May Not Confirm Findings Of Soviet Craft

U.S. Mariner 5 Flies By Venus On Data Mission

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A U.S. spacecraft flies by Venus today on an information-gathering mission that, even if perfect, will but confirm findings of a Soviet craft that landed there Wednesday and reported it hot and hostile to life.

Mariner 5, smaller and less sophisticated than Russia's Venus 4, so far has done all asked of it.

Flight controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory radioed commands during the night that turned on power to perate instruments and a tape recorder.

Mariner 5 loops behind Venus shortly after 1:30 p.m. EDT today.

A laboratory spokesman said all systems on the craft were functioning properly.

Plans called for this sequence of events:

Shortly after noon a sensor aboard was to "see" Venus 26,000 miles away and start a tape to record data from instruments measuring hydrogen, oxygen and radiation.

About 1:30 p.m., traveling at 19,000 miles an hour, the craft was to swing behind the planet, closing to within 2,500 miles. It was to emerge on the other side after being hidden for 26 minutes.

Distortion of radio signals as they passed through the atmosphere on either side of the planet was to give scientists a measure of the density and altitude of the atmosphere.

Playback of the recorded tape was to start 14 hours after encounter. A spokesman said it would be a day or more before data could be analyzed and preliminary results announced. "About the best we can do immediately is say whether the instruments were working during the fly-by," he said.

Mariner 5 was designed to measure the density and temperature of Venus' cloudy atmosphere, determine if the planet has a magnetic field and detect any radiation trapped in it.

Answers to these questions were radioed Wednesday by a Soviet capsule parachuted to the planet's surface from the 2,400-pound Venus 4. U.S. scientists said the 500-pound Mariner 5's findings would be welcome as a check on the accuracy of the Soviet reports.

Mariner 5 was launched last July 13, Venus 4 two days earlier.

Russian experts said Wednesday that data radioed by the capsule showed surface temperature of 536 degrees Fahrenheit and an atmospheric pressure 15 times that of earth. The atmosphere was reported made up mostly of carbon dioxide, with traces of oxygen and water vapor.

The Russians said their probe detected no magnetic field and thus no trapped radiation.

Mariner 5 was not designed to enter Venus' atmosphere and so could not measure carbon dioxide directly.

Instead, it was to try to detect hydrogen and oxygen in the outer fringe of the planet's atmosphere. Since these are among the lightest of elements they would rise to the top. Scientists said they could calculate the amount of underlying carbon dioxide— which earth-based instruments have shown to be the major component of

Youth To Face Hearing In Two Robberies Here

'Not Guilty' Plea Entered To Charges

Sheriff's Office Studies Possible Tie In Other Cases

A 19-year-old East Liverpool youth taken into custody Wednesday pleaded not guilty today in Municipal Court to charges he staged two armed robberies in East End about 17 hours apart on Oct. 9, obtaining a total of $311.

David Cunningham of 114 E. 2nd St. was named in affidavits signed by Patrolmen Charles Coen and James Woods, accusing him of an early morning robbery at the Little Diner on Harvey Ave. that netted $80 and a stickup that same night at the Ohnezeit Grocery on Pennsylvania Ave. in which a young gunman fled with $231.

Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp set a preliminary hearing Nov. 1 on the Little Diner case and another Nov. 2 in connection with the Ohnezeit robbery.

Cunningham entered the pleas through his counsel, J. Michael Kapp. The continuances were granted because the defense counsel is the son of the acting judge. The dates were set so that the preliminary hearings will be conducted by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who is attending a convention in New Orleans.

The two East End robberies were in a series of four staged within a six-day period. A well-dressed young man carrying a pistol was blamed in each case.

A $130 robbery was staged Oct. 10 at the Gilmore Service Station on Route 267 in Glenmoor. A young bandit got $67 on Oct. 14 at Saltsman's Pharmacy on the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd. at Calcutta.

Local police said the question of Cunningham's involvement

Proposal Accepted By Trucking Companies

Truckers Expected To Spurn Plan For Ending Strike; Violence Flares

Scuffles with police and rifle shots in Beaver County and an explosion at Youngstown marked the latest developments in the nine-week strike by steel haulers who were reported to reject the latest settlement proposal.

Policemen and about 75 pickets clashed at Ellwood City as a truck was escorted from the Matthews Conveyor Belt plant. Three pickets were arrested, one after getting 26 stitches in a cut.

A Clinton area man was beaten after he fired a shot through the radiator of the lead truck of a convoy that was moving from East Liverpool to the Aliquippa Works of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co.

The incident occurred at 1 p.m.. Wednesday on Route 151 near Gringo in Hopewell Township.

Six Transcon trucks, loaded with steel, were going up hill at a slow pace when Joseph Minich Jr., 28, of Clinton RD 1 stepped onto the highway and fired a slug from a high-powered rifle through the radiator, State Police said. The truck was disabled. He also shot another below the headlight, then ran to the side of the road to get into his car.

Three other truckers pulled their vehicles around and blocked his escape.

The drivers jumped from their rigs and ran to the car, where Minich jammed the rifle in the stomach of one of the men, police said.

The men backed away, and Minich locked all the doors and rolled up the windows.

The drivers broke out the windows in the vehicle and ripped the distributor from the motor. They then pulled Minich from the car and beat him.

He was treated at an Aliquippa hospital, then arrested for malicious mischief with a firearm. He was released under $1,000 bond.

The trouble at Ellwood City last night started about 8:55 when the Mathews company asked for an escort to get trucks to the turnpike.

Two minutes later the cruiser on the detail called for help, stating there were at least 40 pickets in the area. The number later was set at 75.

Police said an all-out battle erupted about 9:43. Harry Skags of Portersville RD 2 and William Byers of New Castle were arrested for disorderly conduct. They forfeited $10 bonds.

Following their arrest, several other strikers entered the fight. One officer was knocked to the ground and jumped by three or four men.

Another officer came to his aid and hit one assailant over the head with a riot shotgun. Carlton W. Book of New Castle was taken to St. Francis Hospital for a severe laceration of the skull.

Carlton was freed on $1,000 bond following his arrest for obstructing the duties of an officer and assault and battery on an officer.

A convoy of 18 Tom's Express trucks which was halted in Newell Wednesday when tires on ten were flattened by nails tossed on the roadway, was returning today after making deliveries at Detroit. Ohio Highway Patrol officers said the convoy moved through the area late this morning en route back to Weirton.

Another convoy of trucks was to move north this morning from substation through

Contractor Launches 9th St. Ramp Project

The A. P. O'Horo Co. of Youngstown, contractor, began moving in equipment Wednesday to start work on a $252,867 Ohio Highway Department contract for construction of an auto-pedestrian ramp over the Freeway to link together the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St.

The first phase of the work will involve construction of a culvert extension for Carpenters Run. Then the firm will begin work on erecting piers and abutments, which it expects to complete during the winter.

Weather 'Looks Up' Following Downpour

After Wednesday's drenching rain, virtually any weather report would be encouraging.

So tonight's prediction of partial clearning and cool, with showers, is quite acceptable.

And Friday the outlook is even more inviting — mostly sunny and warmer.

Final Push Started For United Fund

The East Liverpool Area United Fund drive stood at 65 per cent of its $125,000 goal today as volunteers sought to complete solicitations by the end of the week.

John Starkey and Robert Sauer, co-chairman, announced $81,000 in collections and pledges following a report meeting this morning.

"All efforts are being made to close the campaign on schedule," Starkey said, referring to the attempt to finish the annual drive in a two-week period which ends Saturday.

"Cooperation is needed from everyone to have their contributions and pledges ready when volunteer workers complete their calls today and Friday," Starkey stated.

Fifteen community and area agencies are aided by funds from the annual drive. The goal is the same as last year's.

At the report meeting held this morning at the Travelers Hotel, achievement levels were listed by the division chairmen and their representatives.

The division and percentage of collections and pledges include: Advanced Gifts 80 per cent; Public Service 89 per cent; Professional 74 per cent; Industrial 70 per cent; Chester 60 per cent; Mercantile "A" 60 per cent; Mercantile "B" 30 per cent; Clubs 26 per cent, and East End 8 per cent.

They were hit about eight miles west of Canfield.

The Highway Patrol said they walked into the path of the car on U.S. 224.

Thief Costing Pretty Penny

MEMPHIS (AP) — Traffic police in Memphis say some thief has a key to 2,200 of the city's parking meters and it is costing the city a pretty penny, estimated at $3,000 to date.

Jury Studies Civil Rights Slaying Case

MERIDIAN, Miss., (AP) — The government charge that 18 men conspired in a Ku Klux Klan plot to execute three young civil rights workers in 1964 was in the hands of a federal jury today.

After six hours of deliberation, the all-white jury of seven women and five men was locked up in a hotel Wednesday night to resume their deliberations at 8:30 a.m.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox ordered the jury to bed after a marshal brought him a note from the jury room. First, he conferred with the prosecution and the 12 defense lawyers.

Under a Reconstruction era law, the men were charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the three men who were slain. Maximum punishment: 10 years and $5,000 fine.

On final arguments, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. John Doan, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, recommended that one defendant, Travis M. Barnette, 39, be acquitted.

Costs 706th American Plane

U.S. Pilots Down First Red MIG In Over Month

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots downed their first Communist MIG in more than a month Wednesday, but strangulation raids on the heavily defended port of Haiphong cost the 706th American combat plane lost over North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced.

As Navy bombers from the carrier Oriskany made repeat raids on the sprawling compound where Russian missiles and helicopters arriving by sea are assembled, the Communists kept up their pressure just below the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Red troops ripped into the rear platoon of a U.S. Marine company with withering small arms and machine-gun fire eight miles southwest of Quang Tri City. Ten Marines were killed and 19 wounded.

The steadily increasing part that U.S. troops are taking in the war was reflected in casualty totals announced today which showed 7,263 Americans have been killed in action since the first of the year. This was more than half the total 13,907 U.S. combat deaths in the entire war.

The weekly U.S. Command summary of casualties showed that American combat deaths increased last week while those of other allied forces and the enemy declined. U.S. headquarters said 71 Americans were killed in action, 977 were wounded and two were missing or captured. The week before 102 Americans were killed, 890 wounded and 26 were missing or captured.

The American command said 1,260 of the enemy were killed last week, while 163 South Vietnamese troops were reported killed.

U.S. planes flew 100 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday.

In addition to the raid on the missile assembly camp, Navy bombers also pounded a shipyard in Haiphong.

House Trims LBJ Budget By $7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rocked by a House vote to cut spending by an estimated $7 billion, President Johnson's supporters are pinning their budget hopes on a reportedly more sympathetic Senate.

The House voted 238 to 164 Wednesday night to write into an emergency financing bill two stringent federal spending limitations, offered by a Republican and a Southern Democratic leader.

The Senate Appropriations Committee meets today on the bill, with Budget Director Charles L. Schultze as main witness. Procedures were speeded because the present month-to-month financing for government departments whose 1967-68 appropriations are still pending runs out Monday.

Administration Democrats predicted the Senate would either delete or greatly water down the spending restrictions and the matter would go to a conference of the two houses.

'Wives Club' Sets Project

"Operation Helpmate" has been chosen as the first project of the Waiting Wives Club for 1968, Mrs. Clara Sell, president, has announced.

The project will provide recreation and comfort supplies for a U. S. Army Hospital in Japan. The hospital which will be supplied cares for wounded servicemen of the Vietnam conflict. The club will be responsible for supplies in February 1968 in cooperation with the Ared Red Cross Chapter.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Jackie Craft, Mrs. Karen Williams and Mrs. Judy Jennings.

Mrs. Anne Overturf Riedel, home economics agent of the Agricultural Extension Service, was guest speaker. Her topic was "Stretching the Food Dollar."

Plans for a Halloween costume party was made, with the women to meet at the Red Cross office Friday at 7:30 p. m. for transportation to the home of Mrs. Cecil Grimes.

Serving on a program committee with Mrs. Cynthia Seller, chairman, will be Mrs. Charlene Hart of Irondale. Mrs. Elen Ebaugh and Mrs. Marci McCoy volunteered to compile an informative booklet which will be given to all servicemen's wives in the area.

The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 14. All wives of servicemen presently residing in the area are invited to join, Mrs. Sell said.

Groups Aid Plan For Yule Tree To Viet Servicemen

The East Liverpool Junior Women's Club and the Red Cross are assisting in an area tree grower's project to help GI's overseas have a Christmas tree for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ludwig of Cream Ridge Rd. are offering to send a 2½-to-3-foot tree to men or women serving in Vietnam for $5, including mailing.

Mrs. Ludwig said the project was adopted after she decided to make sure a nephew—Cpl. Vernon Theodore Morris of South Carolina — would have something to brighten his Yuletime.

The Junior Women's Club will accept orders at St. Clair Plaza Nov. 10 and the Red Cross is assisting in supplying names of men overseas.

Mrs. Ludwig said she and her husband expect no profit from the project, since costs include the mailing, boxes and labor of cutting and packing.

Firm In Cleveland Sets New Acquisition

CLEVELAND (AP) — TRW, Inc., has announced preliminary agreement for acquisition of Hazelton Laboratories, Inc., for an undisclosed amount of stock. This is the fourth acquisition by TRW in three weeks.

Hazelton is a life sciences research company with headquarters in Falls Church, Va.

Great Britain became the official name of the British Isles in 1707, when England and Scotland agreed to unite under one king and one parliament.

Hancock Firemen Hear Telephone System Proposal

The means of establishing a central control communications systems for area fire departments were discussed by W. V. Archer Jr. and Al Wiggons of the C. and P. Telephone Co. during a meeting of the Hancock County Firefighters Association Monday at the Chester fire station with Lee Haney presiding.

The communications system would be a part of the proposed mutual aid program for area fire departments.

A coordinating committee will be appointed by Haney to work in cooperation with the telephone company to assign individual numbers to all houses in the county for fire service purposes.

It is expected the project will take two years.

The rescue operation school originally set for Oct. 14-15 and 21-22 was postponed at the request of the state Civil Defense office, and no future date has been set.

The West Virginia State Fire Chief's Association quarterly meeting will be held at Summersville Oct. 21, and the West Virginia University Fire Advisory Board will meet at Morgantown Nov. 17.

The next local meeting will be at Newell Nov. 17.

No Natives Voted

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—No native Kentuckian voted in Kentucky's first election in 1792.

The minimum voting age was 21 and settlement of the state began in 1776—which meant that no native Kentuckian was old enough to vote.

Group Will Hold 'Haystack Hunt'

A unique haystack hunt will be held Saturday at the parking lot of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church by members of the Columbiana County Youth for Christ.

The search will begin at 6:30 p. m. for various objects hidden in the stack. The first prize will be $5.

A film, "The Haunted Church Bell," will be screened in the church auditorium. The YFC Mothers Club will serve refreshments.

The boys and girls are asked to wear play clothes since most of the activity will be outdoors. There is no admission.

Ellsworth Bunker Goes At It

When Henry Cabot Lodge was replaced as U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam last April, it was plain there was to be a change of policy. His successor was Ellsworth Bunker, the State Department's Mr. Fixit.

The change now is visible.

Ambassador Bunker, reports The New York Times, is laying a heavy hand on the government in Saigon. He is telling it what to do and what not to do.

He is warning its leaders that if they saw off the limb the Johnson administration has climbed out on they will be as badly hurt as the President and his advisers.

The Bunker regime in the U.S. Embassy has abandoned all pretense of a hands-off policy. It is tangled in the government of South Vietnam up to its ears.

The Times also reports that this hardening of U.S. policy is generating resistance among the South Vietnamese, who are seeing their dreams of self-government subverted by the overweening strength of their Western benefactor.

Anti-American sentiment can be interpreted as a revulsion of feeling among South Vietnamese who now know what previously they had suspected — that self-government in South Vietnam is not an end in itself but a means to an end.

The real purpose behind U.S. intervention in South Vietnam is not to protect its independence but to thwart the undeclared enemies of the United States; namely, the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic.

The purpose has been spelled out as far as the Chinese People's Republic is concerned by State Secretary Rusk, who said recently it was to thwart Chisese expansionism — referred to in the early years of this century as the "yellow peril."

Ambassador has been on the job less than six month. He is making his mark. It reads: Made in U.S.A.

CAC's Third Year

Columbiana County's Community Action Committee enters its third year with some commendable programs accomplished and preparations under way for efforts in new directions.

The environmental improvement of needy youngsters in the "Head Start" pre-school classes has been beneficial, as have the motivating and training aspects of the Neighborhood Youth Corps projects.

The new teacher aide training program should prove a job source for many women and a boon to understaffed schools. The proposed community center holds many interesting potentials if it can be undertaken.

Critics of the national "war on poverty" operations of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the past year have focused attention upon various examples of alleged waste, inefficiency and improper conduct in some of the programs.

Others have claimed no tangible benefits have resulted from the large scale investment of OEO money.

More objective appraisers, however, have pointed to the general effectiveness of "Head Start," Youth Corps and Job Corps in many cities in changing the outlook of young people and stimulating them to new careers, new understanding of life.

The county CAC and the many volunteer and governmental people who have assisted have been able to extend this new idea of community involvement to the disadvantaged in a number of areas, and are in a position to broaden this effort in the months to come, with the continuing help of all segments of every community.

Living By The Rules

At first glance, the dispute between school officials and students over school dress codes seems to have little to do with the education. A closer look disqualifies that view.

Schools are for learning — and a lot of learning is to be found other than between the pages of textbooks. There is learning to get along with other people; learning to accept constructive criticism; learning to compete; learning to accept triumphs; learning to acquire knowledge and learning to be a part of a society held together and functioning properly through a system of rules.

When an eager hand grasps a high school diploma, there is no mysterious lifting of the cloak of regulations, no sudden death of a responsibility acquired at birth — that of being part of society.

Naturally, there is more individual freedom in selection of dress and hair styles; but there are even more rules to cope with. If a high school graduate goes on to college, he has to follow entrance regulations, then abide by rules of the institution of higher learning while studying there.

If he accepts a job, he accepts the regulations formulated by the firm hiring him.

Our nation is one of the greatest in the world because individual freedom is stressed within the framework of laws guaranteeing the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

There can be good and bad laws. There is legal recourse to change bad laws. That is why there have been amendments to the Constitution and why other laws and ordinances have been repealed.

School rules also have been revised through the years — oftentime with the help of parents and students. It is all part of the American way of life.

And despite all the flak to the contrary lately, it really is a pretty good way of life.

Any youngster who drops out of school because he doesn't like the rules isn't hurting the school: he is hurting himself.

Bela Lugosi, Anyone?

The arrest and fining of 11 area young men for loitering on a downtown street at 1:30 in the morning caused not a few people to wonder about the "whys" and "whats" of such a practice.

Why would anyone stay up that late in the rather dull pre-dawn milieu of the Diamond? What do they do? Is there some mysterious excitement, some conversational charm, some intriguing aspect of mercury lights and neon reflected on the wash water from the street sweeper?

Most tri-state residents — worn by the travail of the day's work or study or normal leisurely pursuits — barely make it past the TV news, the late movie or Carson.

But these lads are apparently full of life far past midnight, happily clogging doorways, jousting with police officers, enjoying themselves with a variety of food and refreshment.

Would the switchblade knife — innocuous tool of an anonymous early morning merrymaker — be a clue? Perhaps a mumbly-peg contest, a would-be vaudevillian?

The police doubt it. We doubt it. Everyone doubts it. We like the thought of community streets being quiet and orderly in the wee hours, free from any possible threat of harm, uncluttered by broken beer bottles and switchblade knives.

Try Bela Lugosi or Gary Cooper, fellows. Or better yet, go to bed. . .

Much Too Big A Job

Washingtonians are breathing easier now that Ohio's Rep. Wayne L. Hays has decided to call off the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee hearing into the Vietnam brainwashing charge by Michigan's Gov. George Romney.

Rep. Hays says the hearing was dropped after subcommittee found out all it wanted to know in letters from Gov. Romney and one of his aides.

We have a hunch there was more to it than that.

To get at the crux we have to come to an understanding about what is meant by brainwashing. According to our Merriman-Webster thumb-indexed knowledge computer it means:

"The forcible application of prolonged and intensive indoctrination sometimes including mental torture in an attempt to induce someone to give up basic political, social or religious beliefs and attitudes and to accept contrasting regimented ideas . .."

Beginning to see the light?

If the subcommittee had heard the Romney case, every American who ever heard a political speech would have cause to demand a hearing.

Mass brainwashing is the goal of every election campaign. No one ever said much about it before and Rep. Hays isn't about to start the ball rolling now; after all, the presidential election is only a little over a year away.

Playing For Higher Stakes

VICTOR RIESEL

TV Union's Sleeper Crisis

NEW YORK: — This is a sleeper crisis which will keep many from the late shows. There's more turbulence in the air than is now apparent over the $48,000 fines levied on four ABC network talkers by the militant "AFTRA," American Federation of Radio asd Television Artists (AFL-CIO). At least 110 additional commentators soon will be tried by executive boards of their local unions ranging from Gotham, here, to west coast spots, as the trade says on the big street.

Victor Riesel

In all, the fines may rocket upwards of a quarter of a million dollars for crossing the union's picket lines at ABC's outlets.

But there's far more here than meets the camera's two red eyes. The union has the right to fine its members who break discipline and injure the welfare of its members. The Supreme Court has said so.

The law says, too, that the union can fine, discipline, suspend an even expel a member but can't force him from his job so long as he tenders his dues. Even if he broadcasts from a union shop, he can't be fired for nonmembership.

The disk jockeys and even the lesser dramatic personae, the newsmen, the actors, the stars, comics and weather analysts all can continue to work though they committed the cardinal crime inside labor—crossing the picket line strunk by a local.

BUT THE ISSUE is more complex. The other members have the right to refuse to work with nonunion members. What happens then? Whence will come the supporting casts? The right to refuse to walk on set with nonmembers is written in the National Code, something which the other less glamorous unions call their national master agreement.

This, say broadcast insiders, never has been tested. But it is there in writing. Thus the following drama will ensue as the following script is written bit by bit at tumultuous meetings of this talent union:

In coming weeks, 11 broadcasters, "strikebreakers and scabs" the union calls them, will be tried by the local board in Washington, D.C.; another 25 will be tried here in New York; 12 to 15 in Chicago; 4 in the Twin Cities; 25 to 30 in San Francisco; and another 25 in Los Angeles.

If what has happened (in New York, fines running from $10,600 to $14,000 levied by the New York AFTRA Executive Board and in Kansas City newsmen and announcers hit with fines upward of $20,000) is a harbinger, the hundred or so members will be fined heavily.

They can then appeal to their local membership. If rejected they can turn to their national board and finally to their national convention. If then rebuffed they can go into the civil courts. The judiciary generally stays out of such intra-union battles. But it's a long, long trail to the trials. Thus those punished can be suspended or expelled for not paying their fines and remain in limbo for years.

Then the officers — led by the dynamic 48-year-old national executive secretary Don Conaway who has said "you can bet your bottom dollar" there will be punishment — can invoke the National Code.

This code covers network television, commercial radio, sustaining radio, transcription, radio broadcast spots and recorded TV tape. It is signed with all networks and producers.

AT THIS POINT, Conaway and his colleagues could call on their followers to refuse to work with those who refused to observe the picket lines around ABC stations the other week.

Will the followers follow? Well, they have a militant union which, under Conaway's aggressive leadership, has won a guaranteed $30,000 annual wage for many network personalities. Conaway and his negotiators have won contracts which, for example, can give those who make six commercials a year a minimum of $30,000 annually under the residual agreement. They also are paid and repaid for productions shot here and shown abroad. They do right well in the rest of the code.

So if there's a showdown, there may be no showtime on some of the "nets" or local stations. AFTRA National President Mel Brandt, mindful of the original picket line crosser Chet Huntley, says this time there will be no amnesty deal.

Why the broadcasting union feels so strongly about the denouncement can be gleaned from what Conaway told me the other day.

"This recent AFTRA action," said he, "in support of its sister union, the National Assn. of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, is really a milestone in labor relations. I can't stress too much the gravity of members who, for whatever reason, rise above their union and return to work. Our fundamental strength lies in our union's ability to bring to bear upon employers sufficient bargaining strength to win benefits for our members."

Then referring to those performers who have individual contracts with the networks, Conaway added, "It must be very clear to everybody that, as difficult as it may be to any one individual member, he can't supercede the interests of the majority of his fellow members."

This is not only a broadcasting crisis. What happens here will affect all labor and management. This show is later than you think.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In response to an article on the editorial page Monday evening under the heading, "The Challenge of Drinking."

If the money spent were not such a waste, and if the conclusions reported were not so pathetic in their far reaching effects, the results of such "government sponsored studies" would be downright amusing.

The report said: "Young people need to be told how alcohol affects the crime rate, breaks up homes, causes mental illness, increases auto accidents, and wrecks lives." How does the report suggest that young people be told all this? By being taught how to drink in their own homes by their own parents.

Isn't this a brilliant piece of strategy? And to think men and women worked for five years to bring in such a report.

Next, we may expect a study on the problems that are caused by the use of drugs, crime, corruption in government, lying, stealing, cheating and murder. If present trends continue, we will be told the way to eliminate the bad effects of such behaviour is to teach our children how to do these things in a socially acceptable manner.

The report said; "Social drinking cannot be stopped, that was tried once."

How like sinful man to find excuse for that which he lacks the self discipline and moral strength to refrain from doing. Several months ago another government commission suggested the abolition of the so-called "sin laws" since they, like prohibition, cannot be enforced.

Perhaps someday we will be free from every law and every restraint, because after all, every law is broken by someone every day.

The article went on to say; "No stone should be left unturned to keep them, (young people) from joining the ranks of millions who have a drinking problem.

No stone unturned. . .except of course the stone of total abstinence. That stone will be left unturned because American adulthood will pay any price. . .any price mind you. . .to shield our youth from the bad effects of alcohol, except the price of abstaining from alcohol themselves. That would be asking far too much.

The Bible gives a far better answer than the government sponsored study. It tells of One Who is able to lift us out of our sins and out of ourselves. This One gives the Holy Spirit to those who meet the conditions of repentence and faith.

This One imparts the power to abstain from alcohol and every other evil, giving in evil's place the power of an endless life, that for which the heart truly yearns. In Him alone lies the hope of our nation and world.

His name is Jesus Christ.

Church Role

Many people are saying that clergymen and church organizations are driving away parishioners by talking too much about politics, about which they know very little and failing to teach the all-important lessons of ethics and morality so essential today in countries troubled by disorder and violence.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, general secretary of the World Council of Churches of America, said at St. Louis the position of the United States in Vietnam is wrong for moral, strategic, diplomatic and sociological reasons.

He said, with respect to the Vietnam War: "It is wrong for a great and powerful nation to impose upon a small nation even a right policy for their own good."

Dr. Blake added that the claim of the United States that it is bound to fulfill a commitment to the government of South Vietnam is hypocritical and he believes the Vietnamese are "fighting a war of independence and overwhelming force won't make them seek peace."

He called for unconditional cessation of bombing by the United States.

WHILE OCCUPYING a high post in the World Council of Churches, Dr. Blake claims to be speaking in conformity with a resolution adopted in August by the Central Committee of the World Council.

His criticism of U.S. policy is, however, far more direct. The World Council — composed of representatives from virtually all demoninations — recommended that the United States stop bombing but declared that the North Vietnam government, "either in advance of or in response to the cessation of bombing, should indicate by word and deed its readiness to move toward negotiations."

Dr. Paul Ramsey, one of America's most respected Protestant theologians, has been attracting attention by his criticism of voluble clergymen.

He declares that both "liberal" and "evangelical" Protestant leaders have been inclined in recent years to say too much on too many topics.

Dr. Ramsey points to a growing disposition on the part of church councils and denominational conventions to adopt resolutions on a variety of intricate national problems on which religious leaders, as such, have no particular competence to formulate policies. On the question of their offering "concrete political policies for the world's statesmen," he says:

"For ecumenical councils on church and society responsibility to proffer specific advice would require that the church have the services of an entire State Department."

Dr. Ramsey further asserts that many of the pronouncements are adopted by a relatively small number of churchmen after a minimum of serious debate, and that often these documents are drafted by anonymous staff members and presented to national assemblies under circumstances which provide rank-and-file delegates with little choice except to rubberstamp them.

He points to the procedures of the Conference on Church and Society, sponsored by the World Council of Churches in Geneva last year, as a glaring example of this weakness.

HE RECALLS that, in only two weeks of deliberation the 410 participants in the conference arrived at specific, detailed "conclusions" or no less than 118 complex public questions, ranging from the best way to make peace in Vietnam to the suppression of crime.

Dr. Ramsey's experiences at the Geneva conference where these resolutions were adopted prompted him to write a recently published book entitled, "Who Speaks for the Church?"

The author, in calling on contemporary Christianity to clarify the church's message about the meaning of Christian life in the world today, criticized both the National Council of Churches and the World Council of churches for wrong methods and wrong goals.

It is being predicted among religious leaders that this very question will be raised in the Study Conference on Church and Society to be held by the National Council of Churches Oct. 22-26 in Detroit.

Up to now, it has been assumed by church leaders that the rank and file of Christians were backing the involvement of their organizations in governmental questions with a political background.

Ellsworth Bunker Goes At It

When Henry Cabot Lodge was replaced as U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam last April, it was plain there was to be a change of policy. His successor was Ellsworth Bunker, the State Department's Mr. Fixit.

The change now is visible.

Ambassador Bunker, reports The New York Times, is laying a heavy hand on the government in Saigon. He is telling it what to do and what not to do.

He is warning its leaders that if they saw off the limb the Johnson administration has climbed out on they will be as badly hurt as the President and his advisers.

The Bunker regime in the U.S. Embassy has abandoned all pretense of a hands-off policy. It is tangled in the government of South Vietnam up to its ears.

The Times also reports that this hardening of U.S. policy is generating resistance among the South Vietnamese, who are seeing their dreams of self-government subverted by the overweening strength of their Western benefactor.

Anti-American sentiment can be interpreted as a revulsion of feeling among South Vietnamese who now know what previously they had suspected — that self-government in South Vietnam is not an end in itself but a means to an end.

The real purpose behind U.S. intervention in South Vietnam is not to protect its independence but to thwart the undeclared enemies of the United States; namely, the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic.

The purpose has been spelled out as far as the Chinese People's Republic is concerned by State Secretary Rusk, who said recently it was to thwart Chisese expansionism — referred to in the early years of this century as the "yellow peril."

Ambassador has been on the job less than six month. He is making his mark. It reads: Made in U.S.A.

CAC's Third Year

Columbiana County's Community Action Committee enters its third year with some commendable programs accomplished and preparations under way for efforts in new directions.

The environmental improvement of needy youngsters in the "Head Start" pre-school classes has been beneficial, as have the motivating and training aspects of the Neighborhood Youth Corps projects.

The new teacher aide training program should prove a job source for many women and a boon to understaffed schools. The proposed community center holds many interesting potentials if it can be undertaken.

Critics of the national "war on poverty" operations of the Office of Economic Opportunity in the past year have focused attention upon various examples of alleged waste, inefficiency and improper conduct in some of the programs.

Others have claimed no tangible benefits have resulted from the large scale investment of OEO money.

More objective appraisers, however, have pointed to the general effectiveness of "Head Start," Youth Corps and Job Corps in many cities in changing the outlook of young people and stimulating them to new careers, new understanding of life.

The county CAC and the many volunteer and governmental people who have assisted have been able to extend this new idea of community involvement to the disadvantaged in a number of areas, and are in a position to broaden this effort in the months to come, with the continuing help of all segments of every community.

Living By The Rules

At first glance, the dispute between school officials and students over school dress codes seems to have little to do with the education. A closer look disqualifies that view.

Schools are for learning — and a lot of learning is to be found other than between the pages of textbooks. There is learning to get along with other people; learning to accept constructive criticism; learning to compete; learning to accept triumphs; learning to acquire knowledge and learning to be a part of a society held together and functioning properly through a system of rules.

When an eager hand grasps a high school diploma, there is no mysterious lifting of the cloak of regulations, no sudden death of a responsibility acquired at birth — that of being part of society.

Naturally, there is more individual freedom in selection of dress and hair styles; but there are even more rules to cope with. If a high school graduate goes on to college, he has to follow entrance regulations, then abide by rules of the institution of higher learning while studying there.

If he accepts a job, he accepts the regulations formulated by the firm hiring him.

Our nation is one of the greatest in the world because individual freedom is stressed within the framework of laws guaranteeing the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

There can be good and bad laws. There is legal recourse to change bad laws. That is why there have been amendments to the Constitution and why other laws and ordinances have been repealed.

School rules also have been revised through the years — oftentime with the help of parents and students. It is all part of the American way of life.

And despite all the flak to the contrary lately, it really is a pretty good way of life.

Any youngster who drops out of school because he doesn't like the rules isn't hurting the school: he is hurting himself.

Bela Lugosi, Anyone?

The arrest and fining of 11 area young men for loitering on a downtown street at 1:30 in the morning caused not a few people to wonder about the "whys" and "whats" of such a practice.

Why would anyone stay up, that late in the rather dull pre-dawn milieu of the Diamond? What do they do? Is there some mysterious excitement, some conversational charm, some intriguing aspect of mercury lights and neon reflected on the wash water from the street sweeper?

Most tri-state residents — worn by the travail of the day's work or study or normal leisurely pursuits — barely make it past the TV news, the late movie or Carson.

But these lads are apparently full of life far past midnight, happily clogging doorways, jousting with police officers, enjoying themselves with a variety of food and refreshment.

Would the switchblade knife — innocuous tool of an anonymous early morning merrymaker— be a clue? Perhaps a mumbly-peg contest, a would-be vaudevillian?

The police doubt it. We doubt it. Everyone doubts it. We like the thought of community streets being quiet and orderly in the wee hours, free from any possible threat of harm, uncluttered by broken beer bottles and switchblade knives.

Try Bela Lugosi or Gary Cooper, fellows. Or better yet, go to bed. . .

News Of Area Residents In Armed Forces

A Wellsville resident has been awarded the Secretary of the Navy Commendation for Achievement award.

It was presented to Lt. Comdr. Rocco D. Vallera, by Rear Adm. Ray Peet, commander of Amphibious group 2.

Lt. Comdr. Vallera is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Attilio Vallera of 1210 Parshall St.

Justice Irked By Citation In Blue Law Case

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — A state Supreme Court justice has rapped the knuckles of a justice of the peace for issuing an arrest warrant in the state's Sunday closing law while the matter is under consideration by the high tribunal.

Michael A. Musmanno also banned any litigation by lower courts until the Supreme Court rules on the constitutionality of the law.

"It is astonishing that anyone would attempt to relitigate in a subsidiary court the very subject matter that is now before the highest court in the Commonwealth," Musmanno said Wednesday.

Such action "constitutes an attempt to interfere with due process of law and merits censure and judicial rebuke," he said.

Otto Hughes, a Beaver County justice of the peace, granted the warrant to Woodrow L. Clark, who said he made a purchase at Bertera's Hopewell Foodland store last Sunday.

Hughes said it was a violation of state law, and issued an order for the arrest of the supermarket's president.

Interest Rates Hiked By Bank Of England

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England raised its interest rate from 5½ to 6 per cent today in an attempt to meet the competition of rising interest rates in the United States.

The increase in the bank rate, which sets the pattern for interest rates throughout the sterling bloc, was another step in the continual campaign to protect the British pound.

To Arms, Gardeners

NEW DELHI (AP) — City gardeners went on strike in pressing a demand that they be provided with swords. The strike was called after 25 gardeners were frightened by a five-foot snake while they were cleaning a public park. They claimed if they had been furnished the long curving swords used here to cut grass they could have "dispatched" the snake.

Saturday At The Willows

Industry Firemen Plan 20th Anniversary Event

Eight charter members will be honored when the Industry volunteer fire department observes its 20th anniversary with a banquet at the Willows Motel at Industry Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

The department was started in late 1946 largely through the efforts of Fred Koerber, a former Midland fireman, who moved to Industry, and saw the need of a fire department in that Borough. The group was chartered in 1947.

Charter members remaining are Charles Karolewski, president, Michael Rosepiler, Otto Amthor, Ludwig Amthor, Clyde Edmiston, secretary, Earl Hineman, Louie Phillips, former chief and now first assistant, and Clyde Knight. Other charter members have moved away or are deceased.

Other officers are Neil Daniels, recording secretary; Ben Montgomery, treasurer; William Keagy, chief, and Gabe Caesar, second assistant. There are about 40 volunteers at the present time, and two pieces of equipment. The original fire truck was purchased by the department in 1948 through funds raised by the firemen. The 1962 American LaFrance truck was purchased by the borough.

The department hopes to purchase a brush fire truck in the near future. Members recall their week-long battle with a brush fire a few years ago. The truck will enable them to cross fields and get to out-of-the way places more quickly.

Others elected are John Ruhe, vice president; Mrs. Mary Wines, secretary; Mrs. Mary Ann Osborn, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Jones, chaplain, and Kenneth Yost, Mrs. Leona Swiger and Glen Rice, trustees.

Plans were discussed concerning the possibility of having a homecoming next summer.

Twenty - five were present.

A special meeting to complete plans for the parade will be held Nov. 1 at 8 p. m. in City Hall. The group usually meets the third Friday of each month.

Saturday At The Willows

Industry Firemen Plan 20th Anniversary Event

Eight charter members will be honored when the Industry volunteer fire department observes its 20th anniversary with a banquet at the Willows Motel at Industry Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

The department was started in late 1946 largely through the efforts of Fred Koerber, a former Midland fireman, who moved to Industry, and saw the need of a fire department in that Borough. The group was chartered in 1947.

Charter members remaining are Charles Karolewski, president, Michael Rosepiler, Otto Amthor, Ludwig Amthor, Clyde Edmiston, secretary, Earl Hineman, Louie Phillips, former chief and now first assistant, and Clyde Knight. Other charter members have moved away or are deceased.

Other officers are Neil Daniels, recording secretary; Ben Montgomery, treasurer; William Keagy, chief, and Gabe Caesar, second assistant. There are about 40 volunteers at the present time, and two pieces of equipment. The original fire truck was purchased by the department in 1948 through funds raised by the firemen. The 1962 American LaFrance truck was purchased by the borough.

The department hopes to purchase a brush fire truck in the near future. Members recall their week-long battle with a brush fire a few years ago. The truck will enable them to cross fields and get to out-of-the way places more quickly.

The treasurer's report showed $273 collected in a tag day last Saturday. Proceeds will be used for Veterans Day expenses.

Plans were discussed concerning the possibility of having a homecoming next summer.

Twenty - five were present.

A special meeting to complete plans for the parade will be held Nov. 1 at 8 p. m. in City Hall. The group usually meets the third Friday of each month.

Justice Irked By Citation In Blue Law Case

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — A state Supreme Court justice has rapped the knuckles of a justice of the peace for issuing an arrest warrant in the state's Sunday closing law while the matter is under consideration by the high tribunal.

Michael A. Musmanno also banned any litigation by lower courts until the Supreme Court rules on the constitutionality of the law.

"It is astonishing that anyone would attempt to relitigate in a subsidiary court the very subject matter that is now before the highest court in the Commonwealth," Musmanno said Wednesday.

Such action "constitutes an attempt to interfere with due process of law and merits censure and judicial rebuke," he said.

Otto Hughes, a Beaver County justice of the peace, granted the warrant to Woodrow L. Clark, who said he made a purchase at Bertera's Hopewell Foodland store last Sunday.

Hughes said it was a violation of state law, and issued an order for the arrest of the supermarket's president.

Interest Rates Hiked By Bank Of England

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England raised its interest rate from 5½ to 6 per cent today in an attempt to meet the competition of rising interest rates in the United States.

The increase in the bank rate, which sets the pattern for interest rates throughout the sterling bloc, was another step in the continual campaign to protect the British pound.

To Arms, Gardeners

NEW DELHI (AP) — City gardeners went on strike in pressing a demand that they be provided with swords. The strike was called after 25 gardeners were frightened by a five-foot snake while they were cleaning a public park. They claimed if they had been furnished the long curving swords used here to cut grass they could have "dispatched" the snake.

Truckers

Lisbon and east to Louisville.

In Youngstown, an early morning explosion ripped up shrubbery and shattered windows at the Youngstown Cartage Co., a target of fire bombs last week.

Shots were fired at a steel-hauling rig in Connecticut. In Pennsylvania a truck windshield was smashed, and an air hose on another rig was cut.

The time drivers spend waiting at mill loading docks remained the issue separating the parties in the nine-week wildcat.

"My personal opinion is that the men are going to hold out for the two hours they've already approved," said William Kusley, who organized the wildcat walkout nine weeks ago. "Most of the men don't even want to vote on it."

The compromise was prepared by a seven — state mediation panel and approved Wednesday by trucking firms meeting in Chicago and Pittsburgh. It recommended the independent drivers be paid at least $10 an hour for every hour beyond four hours they wait to be loaded at mills.

"There's been so many changes in the plan it just doesn't make sense any more," Kusley said. "We'e been taking a ride for 20 to 30 years, and now it's going to stop."

But the Gary, Ind., trucker said no decision would be made on whether to submit the plan for ratification until "we receive official notification of the carriers' approval.

"So far," Kusley said, "nobody's bothered to contact us."

The estimated 10,000 to 20,000 strikers in seven states approved the panel's first plan last week recommending they be paid $10 an hour after waiting free two hours. The trucking companies rejected it.

"We followed the original recommendations," Kusley said. "Now what are we supposed to do, go back like dummies and tell the men to accept something else?

"We bent over backwards to show good faith. They've already cut us to the bone. How much more are we supposed to give in?"

William J. Hart, Pennsylvania's labor secretary, said the panel recommended the four-hour wait because the average time to load and unload at shipping docks is more than two hours. He said the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1965 prescribed a six-hour wait.

Kusley blamed the waiting time delay on the steel mills, saying all it would take is a "little foresight and planning."

Manager Dick Williams, who led the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant, won the 1965 and 1966 International League flags with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

"My personal opinion is that the men are going to hold out for the two hours they've already approved," said William Kusley, who organized the wildcat walkout nine weeks ago. "Most of the men don't even want to vote on it."

The compromise was prepared by a seven — state mediation panel and approved Wednesday by trucking firms meeting in Chicago and Pittsburgh. It recommended the independent drivers be paid at least $10 an hour for every hour beyond four hours they wait to be loaded at mills.

"There's been so many changes in the plan it just doesn't make sense any more," Kusley said. "We'e been taking a ride for 20 to 30 years, and now it's going to stop."

But the Gary, Ind., trucker said no decision would be made on whether to submit the plan for ratification until "we receive official notification of the carriers' approval.

"So far," Kusley said, "nobody's bothered to contact us."

The estimated 10,000 to 20,000 strikers in seven states approved the panel's first plan last week recommending they be paid $10 an hour after waiting free two hours. The trucking companies rejected it.

"We followed the original recommendations," Kusley said. "Now what are we supposed to do, go back like dummies and tell the men to accept something else?

"We bent over backwards to show good faith. They've already cut us to the bone. How much more are we supposed to give in?"

William J. Hart, Pennsylvania's labor secretary, said the panel recommended the four-hour wait because the average time to load and unload at shipping docks is more than two hours. He said the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1965 prescribed a six-hour wait.

Kusley blamed the waiting time delay on the steel mills, saying all it would take is a "little foresight and planning."

Manager Dick Williams, who led the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant, won the 1965 and 1966 International League flags with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Nobel Literature Prize Awarded To Guatemalan

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Miguel Angel Asturias, Guatemala's ambassador to France, was awarded the 1967 Nobel Prize in literature today.

The 68-year-old Asturias is a writer of epics about the poor Indians of his country.

The Swedish Academy of Letters said the $62,000 prize was awarded Asturias for "his highly colored writings rooted in a national individuality and Indian traditions."

Asturias has spoken out strongly against dictatorships oppressing Guatemala's native population living in misery. One of his major works assails the U.S. United Fruit Co., holding it dominates the banana-rich republic.

Last year Asturias won one of the international Lenin Peace prizes offered by the Soviet Union. He was cited for works that "expose the American intervention against the Guatemalan people."

Asturias spent many years in exile in Argentina, Italy and France. He returned to Paris as ambasador following a change of regimes in his country.

Florida Police Hunt Slayer Of Teen-Aged Girls

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (AP) — Police today sought the murderer of two teen-aged girls bludgeoned to death in a remote "lovers lane." The girls may have been killed with an ax and an ice pick, the police said.

The newly formed Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement, the Florida Highway Patrol and city police were called in to help the Leon County sheriff's department in the hunt.

The girls were identified as Kay Granger asd Ann Wood, both students at Florida High School.

The girls were discovered on the edge of the Apalachicola National forest early Wednesday after an anonymous caller told sheriff's deputies there were "two bodies in the woods near Blue Sink." Blue Sink is a small lake in an isolated picnicking spot.

The two 17-year-olds, one clad in "just undergarments," were smashed in the head "with a blunt instrument, possibly an ax" and stabbed with something sharp and round "like an ice pick or a leather punch," according to sheriff's administrative aide John Melton.

Nobel Literature Prize Awarded To Guatemalan

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Miguel Angel Asturias, Guatemala's ambassador to France, was awarded the 1967 Nobel Prize in literature today.

The 68-year-old Asturias is a writer of epics about the poor Indians of his country.

The Swedish Academy of Letters said the $62,000 prize was awarded Asturias for "his highly colored writings rooted in a national individuality and Indian traditions."

Asturias has spoken out strongly against dictatorships oppressing Guatemala's native population living in misery. One of his major works assails the U.S. United Fruit Co., holding it dominates the banana-rich republic.

Last year Asturias won one of the international Lenin Peace prizes offered by the Soviet Union. He was cited for works that "expose the American intervention against the Guatemalan people."

Asturias spent many years in exile in Argentina, Italy and France. He returned to Paris as ambasador following a change of regimes in his country.

Florida Police Hunt Slayer Of Teen-Aged Girls

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (AP) — Police today sought the murderer of two teen-aged girls bludgeoned to death in a remote "lovers lane." The girls may have been killed with an ax and an ice pick, the police said.

The newly formed Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement, the Florida Highway Patrol and city police were called in to help the Leon County sheriff's department in the hunt.

The girls were identified as Kay Granger asd Ann Wood, both students at Florida High School.

The girls were discovered on the edge of the Apalachicola National forest early Wednesday after an anonymous caller told sheriff's deputies there were "two bodies in the woods near Blue Sink." Blue Sink is a small lake in an isolated picnicking spot.

The two 17-year-olds, one clad in "just undergarments," were smashed in the head "with a blunt instrument, possibly an ax" and stabbed with something sharp and round "like an ice pick or a leather punch," according to sheriff's administrative aide John Melton.

They plan to include in the trip an extra day for sightseeing. The Tammies performed Wednesday night at the Crucible Management Club at Industry.

in the Gilmore and Saltsman cases is being investigated by the office of Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan at Lisbon, as both fall in his jurisdiction.

Representatves of the sheriff's office were present at a lineup at City Hall Wednesday in which Cunningham was identified as the robber, police said.

Because the preliminary hearings still are pending, the local officers would say little about the investigation that led to Cunningham's arrest.

Coen said Cunningham was taken into custody as "we were checking out some leads in connection with the recent robberies." He also said the local officers were aided by the Steubenville police department, but did not elaborate.

Cunningham was bound over to the grand jury a few days ago in Municipal Court on two charges in connection with an incident early the morning of Oct. 1 at the Patterson - Wetzel Laundromat on St. Clair Ave. near Grant St. He was accused of theft of a pay telephone owned by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and destruction of property inside the building. He is free on $1,000 bond in each case.

In arguing the question of bond before the local court in the latest cases, Kapp said that his client also is free on bond in Jefferson County on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Kapp argued that Cunningham should be freed on his own recognizance. Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark asked the court to set bond at $10,000 in each case.

The acting judge, after listening to about 30 minutes of argument from the two attorneys, set bond at $500 in each case.

Allied Hopes Challenged On North Viet Cracking

How does the military situation look in Vietnam as 1967 nears its end? To find out an AP reporter visited all four corps areas of South Vietnam, talking to officers and tapping intelligence sources.

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — On the basis of available information, North Vietnam has fed enough troops and equipment down the Ho Chi Minh Trail to flesh out most of her regiments deployed in South Vietnam, challenging allied hopes that Communist resistance would start cracking this year.

American intelligence sees these Communist units, battered into the hills in heavy fighting earlier this year, bouncing back in fighting stance in half a dozen areas. More indecisive fighting is forecast for the months ahead, not only at the battered Marine strongpoints near the Demilitarized Zone but also down Vietnam's jungled mountain spine and along the central coast.

A lull in much of the country has provided only slim pickings for U.S. Army combat units. This lull is being viewed now as a Communist tactic to gain time to build their units back to fighting pitch.

By avoiding contact, the Communists have checkmated temporarily at least the tactics of the American commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who seeks to wear down the enemy by attrition.

North Vietnam appears to be in a better fighting posture than ever before in South Vietnam, despite previous heavy losses and the tremendous logistic problem of supplying its forces under U.S. air attack.

That broad outlook is based on bits and pieces from various areas, including the following:

— Major combat units have been moved into key areas. Three North Vietnamese combat divisions are deployed in the central coast provinces that stretch south from Da Nang to Nha Trang. Ranged against them are two South Korean divisions, plus one quarter of the U.S. Army combat strength in Vietnam—the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the Americal Division, two extra brigades.

— Many Communist troop replacements are available to support fighting units. American intelligence reports show that major infiltration took place into the central highlands from January to June. Some battalions from the North Vietnamese 5th Division have been back in action two weeks after being bloodied—evidence, intelligence men say, that replacements are readily available.

— New Communist headquarters units are being sent in, providing for greater control over the war. Headquarters elements of 20 North Vietnamese divisions have been identified, including five in the 2nd Corps region that includes the central highlands.

— The Communist guerrilla infrastructure remains strong, and guerrilla units are still potent.

In the over-all picture American field commanders have no doubts that they can beat back any new enemy offensive but admit it will be at a heavy cost. U.S. Marine casualties continue to mount at the DMZ, and the need to reinforce the area has all but torpedoed the hopeful Marine pacification programs.

Even when there is no contact with the enemy, allied forces are tied down because of the ever-present possibility that he might strike when least expected.

Fighting can be expected in the next few months in five parts of Vietnam, in addition to the normal daily skirmishes in all areas of the country. Two Communist divisions, 9th and 7th, known to be gathering under the canpied jungles of war zones C and D to the north and northwest of Saigon. Major allied operations can be expected against these units as soon as the monsoon rains move north in November, if previous experience is any indication.

American intellgence expects Communst units in the "B3" front along the Cambodian border to attempt to gain a limited victory against U.S. or Vietnamese troops before the monsoon ends there in November. This front has been bleeding itself to build up units along the coast and is now thought to be getting direct injections of replacements.

South Korea's two divisions along the central coast can be expected to have their hands full fighting off the North Vietnamese 5th Division and some floating regiments that are seeking to get food and remove Korean influence from the thickly populated coastal plains.

The Americal Division, working out of Chu Lai in the southern 1st Corps region, expects major contact to continue with the North Vietnamese 2nd division.

Based on patterns of past years, the North Vietnamese can expect to win no lasting gains from their current stance. Invariably these units in the past have been mauled and beaten back into the hills.

Yet it has been shown that within a maximum period of six months these fighting units hit by superior allied firepower are capable of battling again.

This enemy elasticity frustrates allied military planners and there is increasing discussion at the top levels in Saigon about the "absolute need" to commit troops against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, where an estimated 80 per cent of the infiltration is coming in.

Health Departments Looking For Faulty Television Tubes

LISBON — The U. S. Public Health Service is calling on state, county and local health departments to help locate thousands of potentially hazardous television tubes.

Manufactured by the General Electric Co., the voltage regular tubes (not picture tubes) may emit X-rays vertically downward through the bottom of the TV chassis toward the floor.

The tubes are for use in GE's large screen color television sets. Defective (obsolete) tubes are numbered: 6EA4, 7EF4, and 6LC6 with white ink printing only. Approved replacement tubes respectively are 6EM4, 6EJ4 and 6LM 6. Most of these tubes bear a GE label, but some may carry labels of other tube companies.

Dr. M. K. Singer, Columbiana County health commissioner, received a memorandum on the tubes Tuesday from Dr. E. W. Arnold, Ohio director of health.

GE has recovered most of the defective tubes marketed within its own distributor - dealer organization, but several thousand of the defective tubes were sold to independent TV service establishments and electronic supply stores for use as replacements.

GE is telephoning every TV store or known repairmen listed in major metropolitan directories. The firm is requesting local health departments to canvass the areas outside the metropolitan areas.

Dr. Singer warned dealers the defective tubes may emit hazardous X-rays when installed in a color set. He asks that a thorough search be made of all tube stocks, including service trucks and toolboxes. He said any defective tubes found should be withdrawn from stock and held for replacement or reimbursement by GE.

Individuals finding any of the defective tubes should contact their TV dealer and request the changes necessary, the doctor added.

Trucker Injured South Of Negley

A Missouri man was injured early Wednesday when his pickup truck veered off Route 170 south of Negley and upset, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Eldon D. Peterson of Lebanon, Mo., missed a curve to the right a half-mile south of Negley at 12:15 a. m., and his truck went off the left side and over an embankment, coming to rest on its side.

The driver said he was shaken and bruised, but did not require treatment, officers reported.

Hopeful Hostess Gets First Plane Ride On Birthday

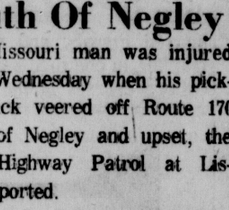

Judy Huston of Glasgow, near Wellsville, who dreams of a career as an airline hostess, made her first flight Tuesday evening and can hardly wait to grow up.

The 40-minute flight with pilot Richard Savors of Negley RD 1 was her 16th birthday present from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huston of Alderlick Rd.

Mrs. Huston, a secretary in the County Extension Office at Lisbon, and daughter, Kathy, 12, an eighth - grader at Salineville School, accompanied Judy.

They took off about 5 p. m. from Leslie Field at Williamsport and found the countryside gay with autumn colors despite a light rain. They flew over their farm, Highlandtown Dam, the Ohio River, Lisbon and Savors' home in the Fredericktown area.

6 Companies Set

'JA' Will Begin Here Next Week

More than 400 Columbiana County teen-agers have applied for participation in the Junior Achievement program which will get under way next week, with six companies in operation.

Jerry Winstead, program manager, said only 200 of the 400 can be accommodated and a special screening committee currently is reviewing the applications. Successful candidates will be notified by mail shortly, he said.

—:—

THE FLOOD of applications followed in the wake of high school assemblies explaining the program at East Liverpool, Wellsville and Beaver Local high schools.

The assemblies were conducted by Nelson Hagerty.

The teen-agers selected will be assigned to groups of 25 under the guidance of advisers from the participating plants. Each group is chartered as a company, sells stock in the organization, manufacturers and merchandises a product and, in general, conducts an independent business enterprise, Winstead pointed out.

The selection of adult advisers is 90 per cent completed, he added.

—:—

NEXT WEEK the high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will meet at the Junior Achievement business center at 516 Market St.

The number participating in this year's program is expected to be greater by 50 than those who took part in J.A.'s first program here a year ago.

Junior Achievement companies are designed to enable teen-agers to learn firsthand the operations and problems of American business enterprises.

Working one night a week for two hours a night from October until May, the companies declare profit or losses to their stockholders at the conclusion of the year and "learn by doing" the various functions of the corporate enterprise.

Deeds Set Mark For Last Month

LISBON — Columbiana County recored 433 deeds in September, a record for the month, according to Recorder John P. Wargo. The August total was 489, an all-time record.

September deeds covered property worth $2,140,816, Wargo said. The office recorded 268 mortgages with a consideration of $3,184,945 and 207 mortgage cancellations ($1,494,255).

Wargo noted a decline in mortgages and said this reflects the beginning of a seasonal decline which usually levels off in February.

Other instruments recorded last month were 36 leases, 20 service discharges, 17 federal tax releases, 14 federal tax liens, five mechanics' liens and five power of attorney forms, four personal tax releases, two surety bonds and two surety bond releases, one unemployment compensation lien and one plat.

With Shrew Inside

NEW DELHI (AP) — A police van chased a taxi with what appeared to be a screaming passenger inside. Police caught the taxi and found the man was only protesting loudly against being taken shopping.

Dinner Event Set Saturday

HANOVERTON—The Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District's annual dinner meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the new cafeteria at United High School.

Coe Burnett of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. will discuss "Our Alphabet" and Mrs. Robert Wallace of Maximo will present a humorous skit.

Dawson Irey of Lisbon RD 4, chairman of the board of supervisors, will be master of ceremonies and Walter Cole of Elkrun Township will introduce guests.

Paul Livezey of the Federal Land Bank at Minerva will present the conservation project award. Supervisor Oland Baker of Lisbon will make the "Farmer of the Year" presentation.

Varied Activities Are Set By WSCS Of Bethel Church

Plans were advanced for various activities when the WSCS of the Bethel Methodist Church met with Mrs. Eugene Beal.

Mrs. Ronald Armstrong led devotions and presented a program, "Feed My Sheep," taken from the "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial."

Mrs. Paul Staley, president, read an article from the "Methodist Woman" instructing the group as to the special offering which will be used for missionary work training and for the youth program.

Plans were completed for a rummage sale Oct. 23-25 at the corner of E. 6th and Washington Sts., in East Liverpool. Proceeds will be used for church improvement and missionary work.

Sunday, the Chippewa Church will hold a Youth Fellowship Rally beginning at 7 p. m. The seventh-grade group is invited to attend.

A Beaver Sub-District meeting will be held Nov. 1 at the Rochester Church.

The Hand Bell Choir will present a musical program at the Bethel Church Nov. 19 at 7 p.m. The church is located on Route 168. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Carol Csonka will be hostess for the meeting in the Fellowship Room Nov. 14. Members are to bring gifts for local servicemen in Vietnam.

6 Companies Set

'JA' Will Begin Here Next Week

More than 400 Columbiana County teen-agers have applied for participation in the Junior Achievement program which will get under way next week, with six companies in operation.

Jerry Winstead, program manager, said only 200 of the 400 can be accommodated and a special screening committee currently is reviewing the applications. Successful candidates will be notified by mail shortly, he said.

—:—

THE FLOOD of applications followed in the wake of high school assemblies explaining the program at East Liverpool, Wellsville and Beaver Local high schools.

The assemblies were conducted by Nelson Hagerty.

The teen-agers selected will be assigned to groups of 25 under the guidance of advisers from the participating plants. Each group is chartered as a company, sells stock in the organization, manufacturers and merchandises a product and, in general, conducts an independent business enterprise, Winstead pointed out.

The selection of adult advisers is 90 per cent completed, he added.

—:—

NEXT WEEK the high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will meet at the Junior Achievement business center at 516 Market St.

The number participating in this year's program is expected to be greater by 50 than those who took part in J.A.'s first program here a year ago.

Junior Achievement companies are designed to enable teen-agers to learn firsthand the operations and problems of American business enterprises.

Working one night a week for two hours a night from October until May, the companies declare profit or losses to their stockholders at the conclusion of the year and "learn by doing" the various functions of the corporate enterprise.

Deeds Set Mark For Last Month

LISBON — Columbiana County recored 433 deeds in September, a record for the month, according to Recorder John P. Wargo. The August total was 489, an all-time record.

September deeds covered property worth $2,140,816, Wargo said. The office recorded 268 mortgages with a consideration of $3,184,945 and 207 mortgage cancellations ($1,494,255).

Wargo noted a decline in mortgages and said this reflects the beginning of a seasonal decline which usually levels off in February.

Other instruments recorded last month were 36 leases, 20 service discharges, 17 federal tax releases, 14 federal tax liens, five mechanics' liens and five power of attorney forms, four personal tax releases, two surety bonds and two surety bond releases, one unemployment compensation lien and one plat.

With Shrew Inside

NEW DELHI (AP) — A police van chased a taxi with what appeared to be a screaming passenger inside. Police caught the taxi and found the man was only protesting loudly against being taken shopping.

Dinner Event Set Saturday

HANOVERTON—The Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District's annual dinner meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the new cafeteria at United High School.

Coe Burnett of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. will discuss "Our Alphabet" and Mrs. Robert Wallace of Maximo will present a humorous skit.

Dawson Irey of Lisbon RD 4, chairman of the board of supervisors, will be master of ceremonies and Walter Coie of Elkrun Township will introduce guests.

Paul Livezey of the Federal Land Bank at Minerva will present the conservation project award. Supervisor Oland Baker of Lisbon will make the "Farmer of the Year" presentation.

Varied Activities Are Set By WSCS Of Bethel Church

Plans were completed for a rummage sale Oct. 23-25 at the corner of E. 6th and Washington Sts., in East Liverpool. Proceeds will be used for church improvement and missionary work.

Sunday, the Chippewa Church will hold a Youth Fellowship Rally beginning at 7 p. m. The seventh-grade group is invited to attend.

Wisconsin, California U. Hit By Anti-Draft Protests

By The Associated Press

University authorities in Wisconsin and California have moved against student leaders of antiwar and antidraft protests after demonstrators in Madison and Oakland clashed with police.

University of Wisconsin officials moved to oust leaders of a campus antiwar sit-in Wednesday which was broken up by riot-trained Madison city police. At least 65 persons were injured in the melee.

Demonstrators vowed to continue the struggle and discussed classroom strikes as a possible retaliatory meaure. They were supported by several hundred sympathetic faculty members.

The demonstrators were protesting the presence of representatives of the Dow Chemical Co., manufacturer of napalm for the war in Vietnam, on campus to interview job applicants.

Chancellor William H. Sewell said Wednesday night he would suspend, at least temporarily, further interviews "to guard the safety of our campus."

Sewell also said the university would prefer charges against leaders of the campus demonstration and suspend them from school, referring their cases to the student conduct committee.

On the West Coast, Arleigh Williams, dean of students at the University of California's Berkeley campus, said his office was charging at least 20 students with violating university rules in the on-campus antiwar rallies.

Antidraft demonstrators continued their protest at the besieged Oakland Army Induction Center and the arrest of 91 squatters at the door brought to more than 300 the numbers of persons seized since the protests began.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, en route to the National Governors Conference in the Virgin Islands, warned that if demonstrators step up their protest, California could use the National Guard.

In Buffalo, N.Y, 200 antiwar demonstrators paraded peacefully outside the local draft board chanting "We won't go."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: When you are cooking pot stew, chili, or any hot, steamy dish which has a cover, it is my suggestion that instead of picking the lid up as most of us do, lift it up at an angle, slanting the top away from you so the accumulated steam will not burn your arm.

Until you have had a wrist burned by steam you will not know how nasty and painful it is. After I got about three of these burns I learned this secret.

Heloise, my whole neighborhood just loves you.

DOTTIE ENGLEWITZ.

-:-

And nobody knows how much we love you all too! Thanks Dottie.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Why do stores always have the prices on the bottom or back of breakable dishes, etc.?

You'll usually see a sign similar to this: "Beautiful to look at, delightful to hold, if you break it, we'll mark it sold."

So wouldn't it be better if the tags were on the front or on top where we could see them. Then we wouldn't have to pick up the dishes to see the price and there would be no danger of breakage.

F. C.

DEAR HELOISE: When covering buttons, I take each little circle of material (if it's washable) and dip it in water. Then it folds around the button form so much easier with less bunching.

ANOTHER SEAMSTRESS.

DEAR HELOISE: This may be something way out of the sky, but I save all of the extra syrup that comes from my canned fruits such as pineapple, peaches, etc., and pour it in a syrup pitcher. I put this in my refrigerator.

Each morning when my children eat cereal, which they dearly love, after they pour on their milk, they top it with this canned syrup juice.

Sure lessens the sugar content when they partake. Besides, it changes the taste of nearly every cereal.

How's about that for trying to save a dime and making your family happy? My husband dearly loves the pineapple juice. . .

MOTHER.

-:-

Well if that isn't the most fantabulous ever! This mother has a great idea.

Pineapple juice is excellent. Fruit cocktail juice real yummy, and the cherry juice terrific! Whether these are mixed or kept separate makes no difference.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: My cats have clawed my favorite chair and the back of it looks like stringy hair.

I know it's an eyesore in our home, but how many people have a chair they can comb?

CAT LOVER.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: I broke the letter holder that I keep on the television to remind me to pay bills and answer mail. Then I came up with the idea of spray-painting a plastic napkin holder black.

Now I can set it anywhere and you wouldn't know it was ever a napkin holder.

T. L. R.

DEAR HELOISE: When my brother wanted to give a friend some seeds the other day, I stuck them in between two pieces of masking tape so he wouldn't lose them.

This method could be used in the fall when you collect seeds. The name of the seeds can be written on the tape before they are stuck to it.

Guardrail Hit As Car Skids; Youth Unhurt

A 17-year-old East Liverpool youth escaped injury Wednesday at 3:49 p. m. when the car he was driving skidded out of control at 60 to 65 miles an hour on the Freeway, struck the guardrails three times and then drifted backwards for 300 feet before coming to a halt, police reported.

Dana E. Means of 242 Ridgeway Ave. told police the auto went out of control as he drove north about a quarter - mile inside the city limits. He was cited into Juvenile Court on charges of reckless driving and operating an auto without a driver's license.

The crash damaged four sections of city - owned guardrails and rubbed the paint off two others, officers said.

The front end of the car first hit the guardrail on the medial strip, then the left rear bounced into the metal fence, officers said. The auto then crossed both lanes of the highway and hit the guardrail again. The auto drifted backward 300 feet, bouncing off the guardrails again, and came to a halt headed south, officers said.

Police also investigated two minor crashes early today.

Dorothy E. Freeman, 24, of 660 Riley Ave. told officers the right rear trunk lid of her 1966 sedan was damaged in a hit-skip collision at 6:35 a. m. at E. 4th St. and Broadway. She said she halted for the stop sign on E. 4th St. and then began to turn left. The other auto then struck the rear of her car, she related. The woman said she halted her auto, but the other driver proceeded.

A collision at 1:17 this morning on the parking lot at the Midway Diner on the River Rd. damaged a 1962 sedan driven by Rosalie Males, 18, of 446 George St., Chester, and a parked 1967 sedan owned by Edward Phillips of Salem RD 3, officers said.

The young woman was backing when her car hit the Phillips auto, officers said.

County Court Clerk's Duties Expanded By House Action

LISBON — An amendment to the state code, effective today, places a new duty on clerks of county courts throughout Ohio.

House Bill 363 provides for the appointment of the clerk of a county court as trustee to receive personal earnings not exempt from execution, attachment or proceedings in aid of execution. Attorneys handled trusteeships previously.

The judge in the court in which a debtor makes application for a trusteeship to pay off his creditors shall designate the clerk of such court to act as trustee and the clerk shall serve without additional compensation. No bond is required of the clerk other than his official bond.

Carl L. Stacey, clerk of Columbiana County Court of Common Pleas and county courts at Lisbon, Salem and East Palestine, will receive still another duty Nov. 21.

That is the effective date of a new law establishing a Division of Small Claims in county courts and municipal courts. The law will permit residents to file with the courts for collection overdue bills of up to $150 exclusive of interest and costs. The filing fee will be $2. The appearance of an attorney on behalf of any party is permitted, but not required.

Stacey said he expects a volume of extra work from the small claims division. These collections are handled now by attorneys and collection agencies.

The clerk will attend a district meeting Oct. 24 at Mansfield to learn details of applying the new law.

The law says proceedings in the small claims division in a municipal court may be conducted by a referee — an attorney — appointed by the court at such annual compensation as the court prescribes. The court may appoint an administrative assistant who shall perform such duties as are assigned by the court.

County Court Clerk's Duties Expanded By House Action

LISBON — An amendment to the state code, effective today, places a new duty on clerks of county courts throughout Ohio.

House Bill 363 provides for the appointment of the clerk of a county court as trustee to receive personal earnings not exempt from execution, attachment or proceedings in aid of execution. Attorneys handled trusteeships previously.

The judge in the court in which a debtor makes application for a trusteeship to pay off his creditors shall designate the clerk of such court to act as trustee and the clerk shall serve without additional compensation. No bond is required of the clerk other than his official bond.

Carl L. Stacey, clerk of Columbiana County Court of Common Pleas and county courts at Lisbon, Salem and East Palestine, will receive still another duty Nov. 21.

That is the effective date of a new law establishing a Division of Small Claims in county courts and municipal courts. The law will permit residents to file with the courts for collection overdue bills of up to $150 exclusive of interest and costs. The filing fee will be $2. The appearance of an attorney on behalf of any party is permitted, but not required.

Stacey said he expects a volume of extra work from the small claims division. These collections are handled now by attorneys and collection agencies.

The clerk will attend a district meeting Oct. 24 at Mansfield to learn details of applying the new law.

The law says proceedings in the small claims division in a municipal court may be conducted by a referee — an attorney — appointed by the court at such annual compensation as the court prescribes. The court may appoint an administrative assistant who shall perform such duties as are assigned by the court.

Sen. Young Cites Rusk About Treaty Signing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of eight nations that signed the Southeast Asia Treaty, only three of them — the United States, Australia and New Zealand—now have fighting forces in South Vietnam, says Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

This, Young charged in the Senate Wednesday, shows there is no truth and no validity in Secretary of State Dean Rusk's contention that U.S. military action in South Vietnam was required under the treaty.

Lake Central, Allegheny Set Merger Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Allegheny and Lake Central, two airlines which have invested heavily in new aircraft, have agreed to merge.

The proposal would create another carrier in the heavily — flown New England to Chicago and St. Louis trunk. Allegheny would be the surviving firm.

The action approved Wednesday by the directors of both firms must get the approval of the companies' shareholders and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The presidents of both firms favor the combination. Although CAB's attitude isn't known, the regulatory body has approved the merger of two midwest regional airlines and is considering a merger of three Pacific Coast carriers.

Allegheny, with $38 million commercial revenues in 1966 and 2,600 employes, flies the northeast, generally from Pittsburgh east.

Lake Central, with employment of 1,300 and 1966 revenues of $11.4 million, generally flies from Pittsburgh west. It is based at Indianopolis, Ind.

Both airlines recently purchased jets and turbo-jets, changing over from propeller craft.

More Land Aided By Installation Of Tile Drainage

Eleven land owners in Hancock and Brooke counties have improved their land during the past week by installing approximately 14,000 feet of tile drainage.

The ditch was dug and tile laid by a tile-ditching machine made available to cooperators through the Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District.

Surveys and designs for drinage jobs were prepared by James R. Michael and Camden Campbell of the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

The tile was installed to improve drainage on land used for various purposes. On two jobs, the work was done to benefit areas around residences by eliminating a swampy condition. The ultimate result will be beautification of the area.

Interceptor lines were used to divert water from hillside seeps from around the gymnasium of Oak Glen High School. The tile installed on agricultural land resulted in several acres of unusable land being made productive.

The tile-ditching machine also was used to dig a water line for Robert Chambers of Bethany.

The total cost of this work was borne by the local land owners.

Cooperators in Hancock County availing themselves of the machine included the Hancock County Board of Education and W. C. Huff of New Cumberland.

Lake Central, Allegheny Set Merger Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Allegheny and Lake Central, two airlines which have invested heavily in new aircraft, have agreed to merge.

The proposal would create another carrier in the heavily — flown New England to Chicago and St. Louis trunk. Allegheny would be the surviving firm.

The action approved Wednesday by the directors of both firms must get the approval of the companies' shareholders and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The presidents of both firms favor the combination. Although CAB's attitude isn't known, the regulatory body has approved the merger of two midwest regional airlines and is considering a merger of three Pacific Coast carriers.

Allegheny, with $38 million commercial revenues in 1966 and 2,600 employes, flies the northeast, generally from Pittsburgh east.

Lake Central, with employment of 1,300 and 1966 revenues of $11.4 million, generally flies from Pittsburgh west. It is based at Indianopolis, Ind.

Both airlines recently purchased jets and turbo-jets, changing over from propeller craft.

More Land Aided By Installation Of Tile Drainage

Eleven land owners in Hancock and Brooke counties have improved their land during the past week by installing approximately 14,000 feet of tile drainage.

The ditch was dug and tile laid by a tile-ditching machine made available to cooperators through the Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District.

Surveys and designs for drinage jobs were prepared by James R. Michael and Camden Campbell of the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

The tile was installed to improve drainage on land used for various purposes. On two jobs, the work was done to benefit areas around residences by eliminating a swampy condition. The ultimate result will be beautification of the area.

Interceptor lines were used to divert water from hillside seeps from around the gymnasium of Oak Glen High School. The tile installed on agricultural land resulted in several acres of unusable land being made productive.

The tile-ditching machine also was used to dig a water line for Robert Chambers of Bethany.

The total cost of this work was borne by the local land owners.

Cooperators in Hancock County availing themselves of the machine included the Hancock County Board of Education and W. C. Huff of New Cumberland.

IT ALL STARTED BACK IN 1913 . . .

The long series of football games with Martins Ferry, which began in 1913, was on and off until 1927. From then there were 30 consecutive games until the rivalry was halted in 1958. The series was renewed in 1963.

During this long series, East Liverpool lost the first 13 games to Martins Ferry, the most victories in a row for either team. East Liverpool did win 8 in a row at one time. The fewest points scored in any of the games was in 1946, EL—0, MF—6. The most points scored in one game was in 1956, EL—55, MF—6. Until 1950, East Liverpool had won only 3 of 26 games with the Purple Riders. But, since 1950 the Potters have been victorious in 11 out of 12 games. The overall record between these two schools: E.L. Won 14, Lost 24, no ties.

. . . And to continue this old Rivalry—

It is rather ironical that when things start to go bad, they really go bad. It started last Saturday in East Liverpool. Our bus that was reserved last June arrived forty-five minutes late to take our team to Warren. To say we were getting concerned about getting to Warren is putting it mildly. We even arranged to take the bus reserved for the high school Booster Club. We were thinking of trying to line up cars to take our team there. Some of the players were still getting taped when we took the field for our warm-up. Apparently the bus had an afternoon trip and got caught in a parade in Youngstown. The lateness of the bus and the hurrying of getting ready for the game were the start and the game itself was to continue in the same way.

The fact that Bill Jones could not play more than a few plays, Bill Hopper getting injured in the first quarter, Bob Jones and Mike McVay injured also made us have a number of younger boys in the game. Coupled with this, Western Reserve played like it was the end of the world. They had a pep rally every day and one at 5 P.M. last Saturday. They played inspired ball. We tried to fight back. They score one T.D. when our defensive back missed knocking it down by an inch or two. They scored one in the last few seconds of the first half when we had them 2nd and 17. They had a fine run and we missed these tackles. When they intercepted our 2nd half pass for a T.D. return we were in a real hole. Our defense shut them out in the 2nd half but they were able to make a number of 1st downs to control the ball so we did not get it back very many times. On the way back a number of the boys got sick to their stomachs and they had to stop to empty their stomach contents. From the beginning to end it was not a pleasant night for the "Potters".

That is football. Happy one night and sad another. Every team has both kinds. The POOR TEAM will not like the sad nights but will forget the lessons of the loss and lose again. The GOOD TEAM will hate the sad nights for a week or two before they forget and have another one. The GREAT TEAM detests these kind of nights so much they will never forget and will do whatever is necessary to never experience these nights again. Each member must DREAD the possibility of having that sad night again. This applies to practice, movie concentration and ALL OUT effort every game. The great teams do it. The "Potters" have their work cut out for them.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: We have a relative who monopolizes every conversation with "Me, me, me — mine, mine. I bought. I spent. I own. I went. I did." In other words—capital "I" and small "u."

Can't these people hear themselves? Don't they realize it's ungracious to talk incessantly about one's self? Why do they do it? Perhaps if I understood it better I could tolerate it.—ASSAULTED EARDRUMS.

-:-

Dear Assaulted: These pathetic creatures feel inadequate. The "I specialists" who continually brag about their possessions, their achievements and their expenditures are not only cloddish but boring. If YOU hear of a cure, let me know. I run into these people too.

The Middle Men

Dear Ann: My sister had an illegitimate baby in another state and has been there for three years. When she left town she told everyone she was going to marry a widower whose wife had died in childbirth.

Please don't get the idea she's a stupid youngster. She's a professional person in her early 30s who always has held excellent positions.

Recently Sis called to say she has decided to come home. She wants us to get the word around that her husband was killed in a plane crash and she's returning home because she needs a change of scenery so she can recover from her grief.

My husband is furious. He's certain that few people believe her first story and that no one will believe the second one. We both feel it's unfair of her to ask us to lie for her. Please tell me what to do. — MR. AND MRS. 8-BALL.

Dear Mr. and Mrs.: Inform your sister that you're not going to tell people anything — that the explanation can wait until she comes home and then she can put out any story she wishes.

If friends or relatives ask about her, simply say you are unclear as to the details, but when she comes home they can ask her.

Rummage Sale

Dear Ann: We have a 13-year-old girl whom I can't recognize half the time because she's wearing someone else's clothes. Loretta has dozens of girl friends and they're forever switching outfits.

I spend a lot of money on that young lady's wardrobe and I have yet to see her in any of her own beautiful skirts, blouses, slacks, sweaters, shifts or coats.

Last night I asked Loretta to dress for a special occasion and she said she had nothing to wear. She was right. Her best outfits had been traded.

When I criticized the practice she called me dumb and insisted that all the kids trade clothes and I'm not tuned in to what's happening. What do you know about this fad—DUMB MOTHER.

-:-

Dear Mother: It's no fad. Girls have been trading clothes since the fig leaf.

Put your foot down on that young lady's smart mouth and tell her there will be no more trading of new clothes. If she wants to trade some oldies, okay — but make it clear, she must ask you first.

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: We have a relative who monopolizes every conversation with "Me, me, me — mine, mine. I bought. I spent. I own. I went. I did." In other words—capital "I" and small "u."

Can't these people hear themselves? Don't they realize it's ungracious to talk incessantly about one's self? Why do they do it? Perhaps if I understood it better I could tolerate it.—ASSAULTED EARDRUMS.

-:-

Dear Assaulted: These pathetic creatures feel inadequate. The "I specialists" who continually brag about their possessions, their achievements and their expenditures are not only cloddish but boring. If YOU hear of a cure, let me know. I run into these people too.

The Middle Men

Dear Ann: My sister had an illegitimate baby in another state and has been there for three years. When she left town she told everyone she was going to marry a widower whose wife had died in childbirth.

Please don't get the idea she's a stupid youngster. She's a professional person in her early 30s who always has held excellent positions.

Recently Sis called to say she has decided to come home. She wants us to get the word around that her husband was killed in a plane crash and she's returning home because she needs a change of scenery so she can recover from her grief.

My husband is furious. He's certain that few people believe her first story and that no one will believe the second one. We both feel it's unfair of her to ask us to lie for her. Please tell me what to do. — MR. AND MRS. 8-BALL.

Dear Mr. and Mrs.: Inform your sister that you're not going to tell people anything — that the explanation can wait until she comes home and then she can put out any story she wishes.

If friends or relatives ask about her, simply say you are unclear as to the details, but when she comes home they can ask her.

Rummage Sale

Dear Ann: We have a 13-year-old girl whom I can't recognize half the time because she's wearing someone else's clothes. Loretta has dozens of girl friends and they're forever switching outfits.

I spend a lot of money on that young lady's wardrobe and I have yet to see her in any of her own beautiful skirts, blouses, slacks, sweaters, shifts or coats.

Last night I asked Loretta to dress for a special occasion and she said she had nothing to wear. She was right. Her best outfits had been traded.

When I criticized the practice she called me dumb and insisted that all the kids trade clothes and I'm not tuned in to what's happening. What do you know about this fad—DUMB MOTHER.

-:-

Dear Mother: It's no fad. Girls have been trading clothes since the fig leaf.

Put your foot down on that young lady's smart mouth and tell her there will be no more trading of new clothes. If she wants to trade some oldies, okay — but make it clear, she must ask you first.

-:-

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

KC A's Moving To Oakland; AL To Expand In 1969

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Once again the AP and UPI polls for state high school football ranking show wide differences.

While East Liverpool remained 14th in the AP poll despite the loss to Warren Western Reserve, the Potters slipped from eighth to 24th in the UPI voting. The reason for the Potters remaining where they were in the AP poll is that many writers vote early Saturday, without knowing the results of Saturday night's games.

The power of propaganda manifested itself when Circleville deluged the writers with letters and brochures and ended up 10th. The coaches gave them less than 10 points, which means even their own coach didn't vote them number one. Dover and Shelby are two other teams in the top 10 in the AP poll that are not in the top 10 UPI teams. Niles, Cincinnati Princeton and Zanesville are UPI top 10 choices instead.

Warren Western Reserve is still behind East Liverpool in both polls, ranking 27th in each.

WESTERN BEAVER, the only team in Beaver County with a chance for one of the three WPIAL grid titles, has no easy task tomorrow night when it faces Crafton. Crafton is not only unbeaten, but it plays the toughest Class B schedule. Even if Western Beaver should upset Crafton and get by South Side and Verona, its Gardner Point total would probably not be enough to get it into the Class B playoffs because of it's schedule. South Fayette, German, Rankin and Turtle Creek are other Class B contenders who have tougher schedules than the Golden Beavers.

MIDLAND'S Jan Samuels passed for two touchdowns and completed 5 of 6 passes as Findlay beat Ohio Northern last Saturday.

TOM COSTA of Ellwood City did well at cornerback for Adelbert College of Case Reserve University in its 27-13 loss to Ferris State Saturday.

OHIO U. won its first soccer game of the season after three losses and a tie with a 2-0 victory over Kent State this week. Kent had won its first two contests.

THERE WILL be a football doubleheader Saturday night at the Rubber Bowl in Akron. Niles McKinley meets Akron St. Vincent in the first game and Warren Harding faces Akron Garfield in the second. Niles, incidentally, has not lost a home game for seven years.

EAST LIVERPOOL, prior to Saturday night, had not been shut out sice Sept. 17, 1965 when Oak Glen turned the trick.

WORLD SERIES footnotes: This was the first year since 1954, and only the second year since 1948, that neither the Yankees nor the Dodgers were in the fall classic. There has not been a five-game series since 1961 and the last six-game series was in 1959. The last six series either have gone the limit or were four-game sweeps.

BASEBALL TRADE rumors are numerous these days. Among them are Juan Marichal of the Giants for Maury Wills of the Pirates; Jose Azcue of the Indians for Jack Aker of the Athletics; Clete Boyer of the Braves for Willie Davis of the Dodgers, and Charley Smith and a pitcher of the Yankees for Bob Aspromonte of the Astros.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S Bernie Allen didn't have too good a year with the bat, but his fielding was fine. He committed only 4 errors in 75 games at second base for a .990 percentage, bettered only by Gus Gil of Cleveland, Dick Green of Kansas City and Horace Clarke of New York. Of this group only Clarke is a regular.

New Teams Set For Seattle, KC

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League has voted to expand to 12 teams by 1969 and shift the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., for 1968.

This seems simple enough, but it took 15 hours, and then some, in a behind-the-scenes melodrama finally to accomplish it early today.

Charles O. Finley received the necessary votes—reportedly 7-3—to move the Athletics to Oakland. At the same time, Kansas City and Seattle were awarded expansion franchises effective "as soon as practicable but not later than the 1971 season."

In the case of Seattle, the franchise is contingent on the city passing a $40-million bond issue in February for a multiple-purpose domed stadium.

Kansas City last spring approved a bond issue for a $43-million sports complex that would be ready in 1971. Meanwhile, major league baseball could be played in the A's home stadium.

Kansas City's delegation was so angered that the city faced prospects of waiting as long as 1971 without baseball that League President Joe Cronin reconvened the owners past midnight and hammered out appeasement on expansion by 1969.

This came after an incensed Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the delegation, said he would call a news conference in Washington this afternoon, and after one Kansas Citian fumed that the league "has rewarded the man who sabotaged baseball in Kansas City and has until 1971."

But by early morning, Cronin was able to announce that, after a meeting soon with the National League to discuss expansion, the American League would take all action within its power:

"To select a new ownership of the Kansas City club prior to March 1, 1968, in order that the Jackson County Sports Complex Authority would be able to obtain a commitment on a long-term lease on the proposed stadium in Kansas City; and to enable the new club to field a team for the 1969 season."

Seattle said it also prefers the 1969 target date.

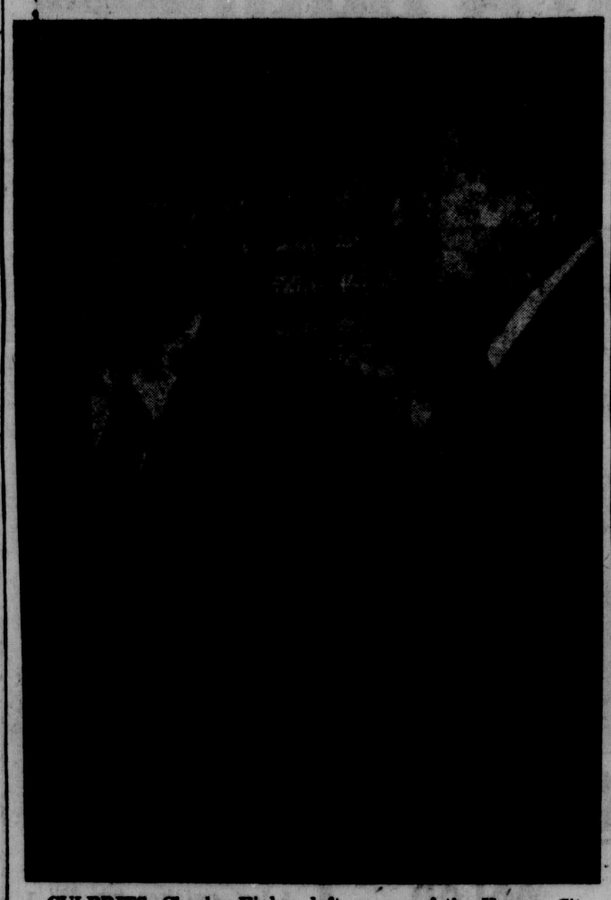

There were "no comment" replies flying all over the place when club owners were pinned down.

One source, however, said the vote taken was on a package deal that included Finley's shift to Oakland as well as the expansion plans.

"All I wanted was to get six votes to go with mine and I did," smiled Finley. "I will name my new manager this weekend in Oakland. He already has been selected. I'm going to ship the A's mascot—Charlie O., the mule—out there."

Finley fired Al Dark as manager during the season.

Penguins Tie 3-3

By The Associated Press

The National Hockey League standings have that upside-down look today. . .with the surprising Boston Bruins and Los Angeles Kings battling for room at the top while Chicago's defending champions grovel in the dust.

Led by Chicago castoff Fred Stanfield, the unbeaten Bruins mauled the winless Black Hawks 7-1 Wednesday night for a piece of first place in the NHL's established Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, the brash young Kings, expected to be the hapless waifs of the new Western Division, remained unbeaten and held a share of the division lead with a 2-2 deadlock at California.

In other games on the league's first full schedule of the year, Detroit stopped Toronto 3-2, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1, Pittsburgh tied Minnesota 3-3 and New York played Montreal to a 2-2 deadlock.

After the NHL held its expansion draft last June, it was generally believed that Boston, the last-place finisher in 1966-67, had suffered the heaviest losses while Los Angeles had gained the least.

But the Bruins, bolstered by the acquisition of Stanfield, Phil Esposito and Ken Hodge from Chicago, have walloped Montreal and the Hawks after a season-opening tie with Detroit.

And the Kings, sparked by untried youngsters, beat Philadelphia and Minnesota before their standoff with the Seals.

Stanfield fired two goals for the Bruins and Hodge connected for another in the rout at Chicago. Johnny Bucyk, Don Awrey, Bobby Orr and Eddie Shack also scored for Boston. Bobby Hull's fourth goal of the young season — while the Hawks had a two-man advantage — ruined Gerry Cheevers' shutout bid.

It was the Hawks' fourth loss in four games.

Defensemen Dave Amadio and Dale Rolfe, who played for Springfield in the American Hockey League last season, shot Los Angeles into a 2-1 lead at Oakland, Calif., before Kent Douglas' third period goal salvaged a tie for the Seals.

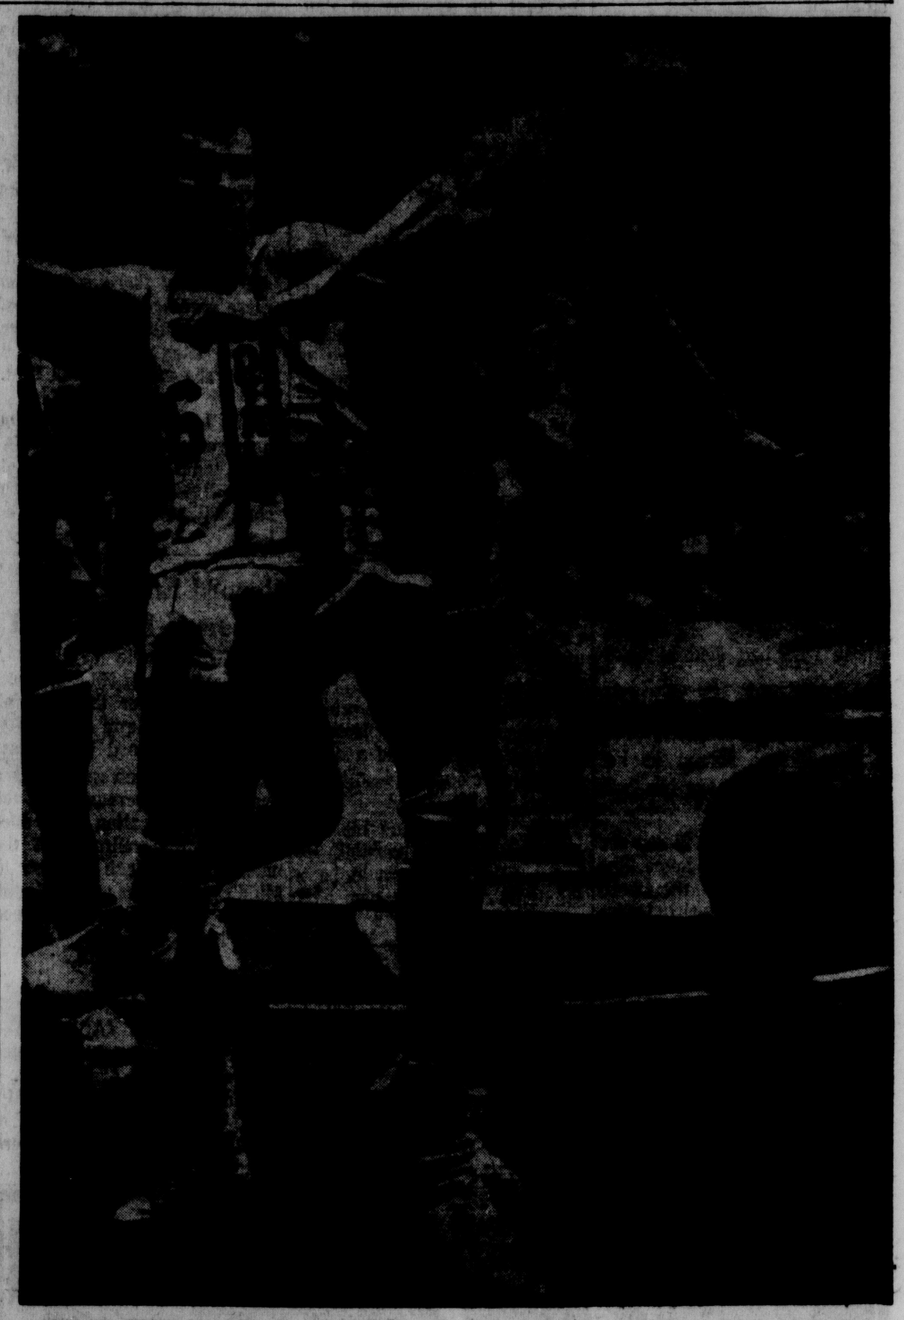

Ted Hampson and Doug Roberts sent Detroit ahead 2-0 at Toronto. George Armstrong contered for the Maple Leafs, but Norm Ullman hit for his fourth goal early in the second period, giving the Red Wings their margin of victory.

Philadelphia's Lou Angotti and Ed Hoekstra spoiled veteran goalie Glenn Hall's debut in the St. Louis nets as the Flyers posted their first victory after two setbacks. Hall, who missed the Blues' first three games with an infected hand, took over in the first period after starting goalie Seth Martin was injured.

Andy Bathgate did all the scoring for Pittsburgh, registering the sixth hat trick of his career. His third goal erased a 3-2 Minnesota lead with 8:30 remaining in the final period.

Phil Goyette's second goal of the game, with just over 2½ minutes to play, earned New York a tie with Montreal in the Rangers' home opener.

Chamberlain, Robertson Lead 76er, Royal Wins

By The Associated Press

Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson, two of sports' best-known holdouts, are back in the familiar roles of holding together their teams.

Chamberlain, who played in only one preseason game, scored only 11 points but handed out nine assists and grabbed 30 rebounds as the defending champion Philadelphia 76ers opened their National Basketball Association season with 103-87 victory over Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Robertson, who sat out all of the exhibition season before signing and who appeared off form in Cincinnati's NBA opening loss to Detroit, scored 41 points Wednesday night as the Royals edged San Francisco 122-118.

Baltimore blasted New York 121-98 in the other scheduled NBA game, and Indiana nipped Anaheim 106-103 in the only scheduled American Basketball Association game.

Billy Cunningham led the 76ers' scoring with 20 points, while Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 20.

Hurdler Whitney Wins Gold Medal For U.S.

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hurdler Ron Whitney saved the lightly-numbered U. S. team from being shut out Wednesday as the track and field competition all but closed in the Pre-Olympics.

Whitney, a Boulder, Colo., high school teacher, gave the United States its only gold medal of the day with a 49.8 second clocking in the 400-meter hurdles as no country dominated the track and field events.

The U. S. team, an expected power in the 1968 Olympics here but hampered by a long summer of competition and fall university classes during these trials, now has totaled only four top medals.

Russia, with 115 athletes among the 2,500 here from 57 countries, leads with nine gold medals, winning in such diverse competition as rowing, gymnastics and weightlifting.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., proved the biggest U. S. disappointment when a hamstring injury kept him out of his best event, the decathlon. He did compete in the 400-meter dash, but his right leg gave way after he led for 200 meters and he finished second in :46.5 seconds. Jon Warner of Poland won in :45.7.

Several other U. S. competitors were runners-up as Doris Brown of Seattle, Wash., finished second to Italy's Paola Pigni in a qualifying heat of the women's 800, 2:10.3 to 2:10.8, and Charlotte Cooke of Washington, D.C., was second in another heat in 2:12.3.

Ed Burke of New Port Beach, Calif., took third in the hammer throw with a toss of 218 feet 6½ inches, behind Russia's Romauald Klim, who hurled 230-11½.

One of the day's top performances came from Miguelina Cobian of Cuba, who ran the women's 200-meter dash in :23.1, one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record set by Edith McGuire of the United States in 1964. Miss Cobian is the only double winner after capturing the 100-meter dash earlier.

Eddy Ottoz of Italy won the 110-meter hurdles in :13.6, again only one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record.

Victor Kurentsov of Russia broke world middleweight weightlifting records with a press of 346½ pounds and a total three-lift of 1,034. The single press cracked the mark of 345.4 held by Russell Nipp of Pittsburgh, who took third.

Masahi Ohuchi of Japan shattered the world light heavyweight mark with a snatch of 330 pounds.

Finals are scheduled today in the decathlon, led by Werner Duttweiller of Switzerland after five events; the men's broad jump; the 5,000 and 1,500 meters; the 1,600-meter relay, and the women's high jump, 80-meter hurdles and 800 meters.

Cyclists also begin their events.

Louisville Gets IL Franchise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Louisville, Ky., now has an excuse to come up with a case of baseball fever again.

Walter Dilbeck, a 49-year-old real estate tycoon from Evansville, Ind., agreed to take professional baseball back to the Commonwealth's largest city when directors of the International League accepted Wednesday his bid of $65,000 for a franchise given up by Toronto.

Dilbeck, reached at Evansville, said securing of an IL franchise for Louisville "'is a step to the majors." He added that he will try to get a major league for the city in a year or two.

KC A's Moving To Oakland; AL To Expand In 1969

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Once again the AP and UPI polls for state high school football ranking show wide differences.

While East Liverpool remained 14th in the AP poll despite the loss to Warren Western Reserve, the Potters slipped from eighth to 24th in the UPI voting. The reason for the Potters remaining where they were in the AP poll is that many writers vote early Saturday, without knowing the results of Saturday night's games.

The power of propaganda manifested itself when Circleville deluged the writers with letters and brochures and ended up 10th. The coaches gave them less than 10 points, which means even their own coach didn't vote them number one. Dover and Shelby are two other teams in the top 10 in the AP poll that are not in the top 10 UPI teams. Niles, Cincinnati Princeton and Zanesville are UPI top 10 choices instead.

Warren Western Reserve is still behind East Liverpool in both polls, ranking 27th in each.

WESTERN BEAVER, the only team in Beaver County with a chance for one of the three WPIAL grid titles, has no easy task tomorrow night when it faces Crafton. Crafton is not only unbeaten, but it plays the toughest Class B schedule. Even if Western Beaver should upset Crafton and get by South Side and Verona, its Gardner Point total would probably not be enough to get it into the Class B playoffs because of it's schedule. South Fayette, German, Rankin and Turtle Creek are other Class B contenders who have tougher schedules than the Golden Beavers.

MIDLAND'S Jan Samuels passed for two touchdowns and completed 5 of 6 passes as Findlay beat Ohio Northern last Saturday.

TOM COSTA of Ellwood City did well at cornerback for Adelbert College of Case Reserve University in its 27-13 loss to Ferris State Saturday.

OHIO U. won its first soccer game of the season after three losses and a tie with a 2-0 victory over Kent State this week. Kent had won its first two contests.

THERE WILL be a football doubleheader Saturday night at the Rubber Bowl in Akron. Niles McKinley meets Akron St. Vincent in the first game and Warren Harding faces Akron Garfield in the second. Niles, incidentally, has not lost a home game for seven years.

EAST LIVERPOOL, prior to Saturday night, had not been shut out sice Sept. 17, 1965 when Oak Glen turned the trick.

WORLD SERIES footnotes: This was the first year since 1954, and only the second year since 1948, that neither the Yankees nor the Dodgers were in the fall classic. There has not been a five-game series since 1961 and the last six-game series was in 1959. The last six series either have gone the limit or were four-game sweeps.

BASEBALL TRADE rumors are numerous these days. Among them are Juan Marichal of the Giants for Maury Wills of the Pirates; Jose Azcue of the Indians for Jack Aker of the Athletics; Clete Boyer of the Braves for Willie Davis of the Dodgers, and Charley Smith and a pitcher of the Yankees for Bob Aspromonte of the Astros.

EAST LIVERPOOL'S Bernie Allen didn't have too good a year with the bat, but his fielding was fine. He committed only 4 errors in 75 games at second base for a .990 percentage, bettered only by Gus Gil of Cleveland, Dick Green of Kansas City and Horace Clarke of New York. Of this group only Clarke is a regular.

New Teams Set For Seattle, KC

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League has voted to expand to 12 teams by 1969 and shift the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., for 1968.

This seems simple enough, but it took 15 hours, and then some, in a behind-the-scenes melodrama finally to accomplish it early today.

Charles O. Finley received the necessary votes—reportedly 7-3—to move the Athletics to Oakland. At the same time, Kansas City and Seattle were awarded expansion franchises effective "as soon as practicable but not later than the 1971 season."

In the case of Seattle, the franchise is contingent on the city passing a $40-million bond issue in February for a multiple-purpose domed stadium.

Kansas City last spring approved a bond issue for a $43-million sports complex that would be ready in 1971. Meanwhile, major league baseball could be played in the A's home stadium.

Kansas City's delegation was so angered that the city faced prospects of waiting as long as 1971 without baseball that League President Joe Cronin reconvened the owners past midnight and hammered out appeasement on expansion by 1969.

This came after an incensed Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the delegation, said he would call a news conference in Washington this afternoon, and after one Kansas Citian fumed that the league "has rewarded the man who sabotaged baseball in Kansas City and has until 1971."

But by early morning, Cronin was able to announce that, after a meeting soon with the National League to discuss expansion, the American League would take all action within its power:

"To select a new ownership of the Kansas City club prior to March 1, 1968, in order that the Jackson County Sports Complex Authority would be able to obtain a commitment on a long-term lease on the proposed stadium in Kansas City; and to enable the new club to field a team for the 1969 season."

Seattle said it also prefers the 1969 target date.

There were "no comment" replies flying all over the place when club owners were pinned down.

One source, however, said the vote taken was on a package deal that included Finley's shift to Oakland as well as the expansion plans.

"All I wanted was to get six votes to go with mine and I did," smiled Finley. "I will name my new manager this weekend in Oakland. He already has been selected. I'm going to ship the A's mascot—Charlie O., the mule—out there."

Finley fired Al Dark as manager during the season.

Penguins Tie 3-3

By The Associated Press

The National Hockey League standings have that upside-down look today. . .with the surprising Boston Bruins and Los Angeles Kings battling for room at the top while Chicago's defending champions grovel in the dust.

Led by Chicago castoff Fred Stanfield, the unbeaten Bruins mauled the winless Black Hawks 7-1 Wednesday night for a piece of first place in the NHL's established Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, the brash young Kings, expected to be the hapless waifs of the new Western Division, remained unbeaten and held a share of the division lead with a 2-2 deadlock at California.

In other games on the league's first full schedule of the year, Detroit stopped Toronto 3-2, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1, Pittsburgh tied Minnesota 3-3 and New York played Montreal to a 2-2 deadlock.

After the NHL held its expansion draft last June, it was generally believed that Boston, the last-place finisher in 1966-67, had suffered the heaviest losses while Los Angeles had gained the least.

But the Bruins, bolstered by the acquisition of Stanfield, Phil Esposito and Ken Hodge from Chicago, have walloped Montreal and the Hawks after a season-opening tie with Detroit.

And the Kings, sparked by untried youngsters, beat Philadelphia and Minnesota before their standoff with the Seals.

Stanfield fired two goals for the Bruins and Hodge connected for another in the rout at Chicago. Johnny Bucyk, Don Awrey, Bobby Orr and Eddie Shack also scored for Boston. Bobby Hull's fourth goal of the young season — while the Hawks had a two-man advantage — ruined Gerry Cheevers' shutout bid.

It was the Hawks' fourth loss in four games.

Defensemen Dave Amadio and Dale Rolfe, who played for Springfield in the American Hockey League last season, shot Los Angeles into a 2-1 lead at Oakland, Calif., before Kent Douglas' third period goal salvaged a tie for the Seals.

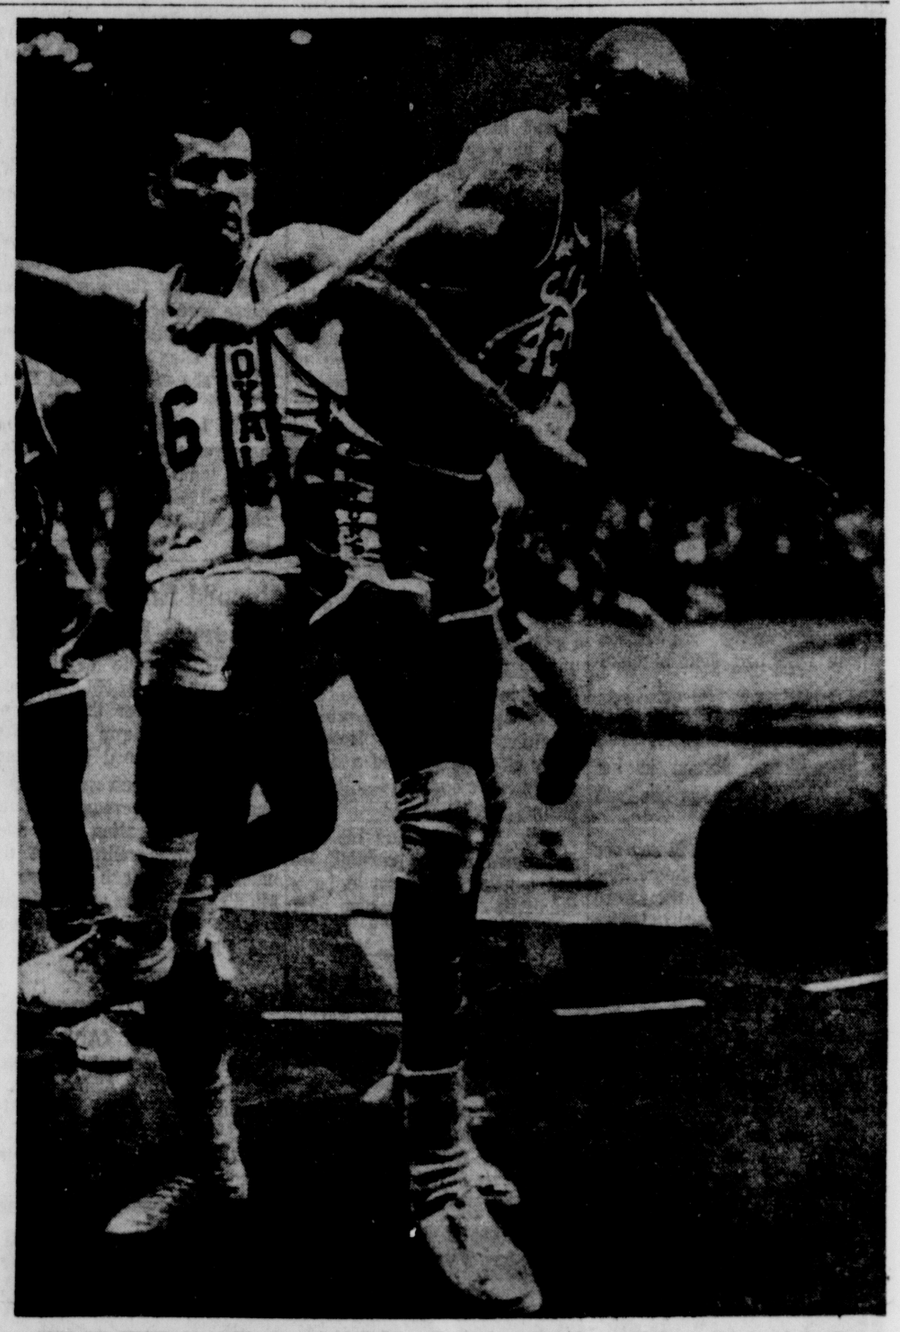

Ted Hampson and Doug Roberts sent Detroit ahead 2-0 at Toronto. George Armstrong contered for the Maple Leafs, but Norm Ullman hit for his fourth goal early in the second period, giving the Red Wings their margin of victory.

Philadelphia's Lou Angotti and Ed Hoekstra spoiled veteran goalie Glenn Hall's debut in the St. Louis nets as the Flyers posted their first victory after two setbacks. Hall, who missed the Blues' first three games with an infected hand, took over in the first period after starting goalie Seth Martin was injured.

Andy Bathgate did all the scoring for Pittsburgh, registering the sixth hat trick of his career. His third goal erased a 3-2 Minnesota lead with 8:30 remaining in the final period.

Phil Goyette's second goal of the game, with just over 2½ minutes to play, earned New York a tie with Montreal in the Rangers' home opener.

Chamberlain, Robertson Lead 76er, Royal Wins

By The Associated Press

Wilt Chamberlain and Oscar Robertson, two of sports' best-known holdouts, are back in the familiar roles of holding together their teams.

Chamberlain, who played in only one preseason game, scored only 11 points but handed out nine assists and grabbed 30 rebounds as the defending champion Philadelphia 76ers opened their National Basketball Association season with 103-87 victory over Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Robertson, who sat out all of the exhibition season before signing and who appeared off form in Cincinnati's NBA opening loss to Detroit, scored 41 points Wednesday night as the Royals edged San Francisco 122-118.

Baltimore blasted New York 121-98 in the other scheduled NBA game, and Indiana nipped Anaheim 106-103 in the only scheduled American Basketball Association game.

Billy Cunningham led the 76ers' scoring with 20 points, while Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 20.

Hurdler Whitney Wins Gold Medal For U.S.

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hurdler Ron Whitney saved the lightly-numbered U. S. team from being shut out Wednesday as the track and field competition all but closed in the Pre-Olympics.

Whitney, a Boulder, Colo., high school teacher, gave the United States its only gold medal of the day with a 49.8 second clocking in the 400-meter hurdles as no country dominated the track and field events.

The U. S. team, an expected power in the 1968 Olympics here but hampered by a long summer of competition and fall university classes during these trials, now has totaled only four top medals.

Russia, with 115 athletes among the 2,500 here from 57 countries, leads with nine gold medals, winning in such diverse competition as rowing, gymnastics and weightlifting.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., proved the biggest U. S. disappointment when a hamstring injury kept him out of his best event, the decathlon. He did compete in the 400-meter dash, but his right leg gave way after he led for 200 meters and he finished second in :46.5 seconds. Jon Warner of Poland won in :45.7.

Several other U. S. competitors were runners-up as Doris Brown of Seattle, Wash., finished second to Italy's Paola Pigni in a qualifying heat of the women's 800, 2:10.3 to 2:10.8, and Charlotte Cooke of Washington, D.C., was second in another heat in 2:12.3.

Ed Burke of New Port Beach, Calif., took third in the hammer throw with a toss of 218 feet 6½ inches, behind Russia's Romauald Klim, who hurled 230-11½.

One of the day's top performances came from Miguelina Cobian of Cuba, who ran the women's 200-meter dash in :23.1, one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record set by Edith McGuire of the United States in 1964. Miss Cobian is the only double winner after capturing the 100-meter dash earlier.

Eddy Ottoz of Italy won the 110-meter hurdles in :13.6, again only one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record.

Victor Kurentsov of Russia broke world middleweight weightlifting records with a press of 346½ pounds and a total three-lift of 1,034. The single press cracked the mark of 345.4 held by Russell Nipp of Pittsburgh, who took third.

Masahi Ohuchi of Japan shattered the world light heavyweight mark with a snatch of 330 pounds.

Finals are scheduled today in the decathlon, led by Werner Duttweiller of Switzerland after five events; the men's broad jump; the 5,000 and 1,500 meters; the 1,600-meter relay, and the women's high jump, 80-meter hurdles and 800 meters.

Cyclists also begin their events.

Red Sox 1st Only When It Counted

The Red Sox, surprise champions of the American League in 1967, spent only 19 days in first place during the year.

Boston spent 39 days in second, 49 in third, 33 in fourth, 19 in fifth, 6 in sixth, 3 in seventh, 4 in eighth and 3 in ninth, but they were in first when it counted — at the end of the season.

The White Sox, who faded to a fourth place finish, were in first for over half the season, 89 days. In the wild scramble that was the American League pennant race, every team except the Washington Senators spent some time in first. The Twins were there 39 days, the Tigers 37, the Orioles 11, the Yankees 6, the A's and Angels 3 each and the Indians 1.

The National League was a runaway by comparison. The pennant-winning Cardinals were never out of first after June 18 and perched in the top spot 119 days. They spent 44 days in second, 10 days in third and 2 days in fourth. The Reds were in first 56 days, the Cubs 5, the Astros 2 and the Pirates 1.

No team in the National League occupied every position, while every team in the American League except Detroit, Chicago, Washington and Boston was in every slot from first to last sometime during the year.

Top Schoolboy Clash

Massillon Faces Upper Arlington

By HAL PARIS
Associated press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two powerful high school football giants share the spotlight Friday night when unbeaten Upper Arlington invades Tigertown for a clash with mighty Massillon.

The No. 2 ranked Tigers and the third-rated Golden Bears need a victory to stay in the Class AA title picture. A defeat will shatter the championship aspirations of the loser.

It's the second straight weekend that two state scholastic powers have come to grips. Last Friday, top-ranked Canton McKinley fell on a last second touchdown to No. 4 Steubenville.

The 20-15 triumph lifted the Big Red all the way to the top spot, sent McKinley skidding to fifth and left the door open for the Massillon-Arlington victor to put pressure on Steubenville.

Both Arlington and Massillon have perfect 6-0 records but the Golden Bears have rolled over their opponents while the Tigers have won the close ones.

One acceptable explanation is that Massillon plays the tougher schedule. Another is that most foes makes Massillon their No. 1 target because the Tigers have won 11 state crowns.

Both clubs are strong defensively, each having vielded only 41 points. But Arlington has piled up 268 points compared to the Tigers' 126.

Coach Marv Moorhead's Central Ohio club clipped Massillon a year ago 21-6 and with that decision almost copped a state title. But another Columbus kingpin — Watterson — smashed Arlingtos's bid 32-0 in the finale for both teams.

On the strength of that awesome triumph, it's 10th of the campaign, Watterson copped the AP poll.

Coach Bob Seaman, who has successfully guided Massillon on a strong comeback trail after the Tigers suffered through a 4-5 season, will have to set up a sticky defense to guard against the well - balanced Arlington attack.

Halfback Gary Moore, a fleet-footed 160-pounder, has racked up 504 yards in only 56 efforts. And quarterback Scott Stanley has completed 46 of 78 passes for 592 yards.

Tailback Jim Smith, a rugged 6-4, 187-pounder, leads Massillon's attack with 538 yards.

Scholastic Sidelights:

There are other top attractions involving top ten teams. While Steubenville practically gets a breather in Columbus DeSale, No. 4 Cincinnati Roger Bacon must ward off the challenge of Cincinnati Moeller, beaten last Friday for the first time. Moeller lost 18 - 14 to Cincinnati Elder, another Queen City power.

No. 6 Dover entertains unbeaten Jackson and No. 9 Toledo St. Francis goes against once-beaten Toledo Start.

It's been a great season for Columbus area teams. Columbus East, Eastmoor, Marion Franklin, Arlington, Westerville and Dublin all sport 6-0 records.

Dublin risks its unblemished log against West Jefferson, also 6-0, Friday.

In a battle of unbeatens. Dayton Belmont and Dayton Roosevelt struggled to a 12-12 tie last week in the mud and rain.

No. 10 Circleville, 6-0, won its 13th consecutive game last Friday the 13th defeating Washington Court House for the 13th year in a row. The Tigers have won five Central Ohio League titles in the past seven years and are led by Steve Dade, a speedy halfback who has gained 692 yards.

Watkins Memorial's Jack Leveck, brother of Ohio University halfback Dave Leveck, has scored 102 points in six games, five of them victories.

Class A Licking Heights, 6-0, has allowed only six points all season. Unbeaten Newark Catholic set a school scoring record in a 70-0 romp over East Knox.

Fairfield Union, unbeaten in five outings, registered its fourth shutout with a 24 - 0 whitewash of Amanda - Clearcreek. Fairfield also has victimized 10th ranked Berne Union.

Talking about No. 13, that's the number that adorns the jersey of halfback - quarterback Keith Burke of Steubenville. Burke always will be remembered for catching a deflected pass in the end zone that whipped Canton McKinley last Friday in the final second.

Rose Nuzzo Joins Yogis, Favors Consensus Picks

The Review Grid Yogis have added something new — the woman's touch — but whether this will be helpful remains to be seen.

Rose Nuzzo, coming off the injured list, makes her Yogi debut this week, and she goes with the consensus in every case. Her picks are identical to leader Bob Shaffer, so she shouldn't do too badly. In one game, the consensus is split 3-3, with Tom Futhey, Bob Duffy and Turk Pierce taking Oak Glen and the others picking Salem.

The unanimous choices are East Liverpool over Martins Ferry, Crestview over United and the Cowboys over the Steelers. Bob Poole, who fell into the cellar last week, tries to recoup by taking Beaver Local over Lisbon, the Bears over the Browns and West Virginia over Penn State.

Duffy couldn't pick against his Ohio U. team, though everyone else took Miami. Tom Futhey could pick against his Kent State team, however, as he and Pierce went with Bowling Green.

Futhey and Poole selected Midland, while the others went with Rochester.

Lady Potters Plan Annual Grid Banquet

The annual football banquet, to be held sometime in November, was discussed by the Lady Potter Boosters at their meeting Tuesday night.

It was reported that the rummage sale held last weekend made about $100. All those who donated rummage for the sale were thanked. The club is still selling aprons and fruit cakes to raise money for the banquet.

The next meeting will be Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. at the YMCA. A Halloween party will follow the meeting.

Purple Raiders Loss String 22

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

If the East Liverpool Potters need an easy opponent to bounce back against following the loss to Warren Western Reserve, Martins Ferry seems to be just what the doctor ordered.

The once powerful Purple Raiders from down the river are riding a 22-game losing streak, and have scored only four times in six outings this season. Carl Mamone's club has lost to Weirton 14-6, Marietta 29-6, Bridgeport 8-0, Wheeling 17-8, Moundsville 14-6 and Follansbee 26-0.

Nevertheless, Potter coach Bob McNea says this year's Ferry team is stronger than the one which was buried 54-0 by East Liverpool last year. "They give up yardage grudgingly and they hustle", McNea said. He indicated that the Potters would stick mainly to a rushing offense, especially if the field is wet, which it always seems to be at Martins Ferry.

The top two backs for Ferry, in McNea's estimation, are quarterback Sam Twardoski, a sophomore who has completed 24 of 48 passes with only two interceptions for 224 yards and halfback Rich Weiskircher, a junior who has rushed for 229 yards in 67 carries and who has gathered in 150 yards worth of passes. The others in the backfield are juniors, halfback Larry Duncan, with 164 yards rushing, and fullback Dave Bruney, with 190 yards rushing.

The Potters are in better shape physically than last week. Bill Jones is still hampered by the bruise on his back, Rick Rowley has a shoulder separation, Bill Hopper has a bruised shoulder, and Bruce Christian and Earl Diddle have knee hurts, but all are expected to play. McNea says he doesn't think the team will have a psychological letdown because of the loss to Warren.

Game time in Martins Ferry is 8 p.m. The field is between the river and Route 7, and there are signs to the field on Route 7, though the area is congested by construction. Martins Ferry prohibits radio broadcasts of the game, but the halftime score and the final score will be available at the Review by calling 385-4545 Friday night.

Chargers' Duncan Honored

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Would you believe Jimmy Brown, standing 5-foot-10, weighing 175 pounds and playing in a defensive backfield?

Well, you'd better believe Speedy Duncan, San Diego's diminutive cornerback, who is as important to the Chargers as Brown was to Cleveland.

Duncan scored two touchdowns against Kansas City last Sunday, set an American Football League record on one of them and was named AFL Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today for his part in San Diego's 45-31 victory.

A newsman asked Coach Sid Gillman how he gets the Chargers up for a showdown game such as last week's collision with Kansas City. Gillman's reply was succinct.

"Speedy Duncan makes like the poor man's Jim Brown," he said, "and we're ready to go."

Red Sox 1st Only When It Counted

The Red Sox, surprise champions of the American League in 1967, spent only 19 days in first place during the year.

Boston spent 39 days in second, 49 in third, 33 in fourth, 19 in fifth, 6 in sixth, 3 in seventh, 4 in eighth and 3 in ninth, but they were in first when it counted — at the end of the season.

The White Sox, who faded to a fourth place finish, were in first for over half the season, 89 days. In the wild scramble that was the American League pennant race, every team except the Washington Senators spent some time in first. The Twins were there 39 days, the Tigers 37, the Orioles 11, the Yankees 6, the A's and Angels 3 each and the Indians 1.

The National League was a runaway by comparison. The pennant-winning Cardinals were never out of first after June 18 and perched in the top spot 119 days. They spent 44 days in second, 10 days in third and 2 days in fourth. The Reds were in first 56 days, the Cubs 5, the Astros 2 and the Pirates 1.

No team in the National League occupied every position, while every team in the American League except Detroit, Chicago, Washington and Boston was in every slot from first to last sometime during the year.

Top Schoolboy Clash

Massillon Faces Upper Arlington

By HAL PARIS
Associated press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two powerful high school football giants share the spotlight Friday night when unbeaten Upper Arlington invades Tigertown for a clash with mighty Massillon.

The No. 2 ranked Tigers and the third-rated Golden Bears need a victory to stay in the Class AA title picture. A defeat will shatter the championship aspirations of the loser.

It's the second straight weekend that two state scholastic powers have come to grips. Last Friday, top-ranked Canton McKinley fell on a last second touchdown to No. 4 Steubenville.

The 20-15 triumph lifted the Big Red all the way to the top spot, sent McKinley skidding to fifth and left the door open for the Massillon-Arlington victor to put pressure on Steubenville.

Both Arlington and Massillon have perfect 6-0 records but the Golden Bears have rolled over their opponents while the Tigers have won the close ones.

One acceptable explanation is that Massillon plays the tougher schedule. Another is that most foes makes Massillon their No. 1 target because the Tigers have won 11 state crowns.

Both clubs are strong defensively, each having yielded only 41 points. But Arlington has piled up 268 points compared to the Tigers' 126.

Coach Marv Moorhead's Central Ohio club clipped Massillon a year ago 21-6 and with that decision almost copped a state title. But another Columbus kingpin — Watterson — smashed Arlingtos's bid 32-0 in the finale for both teams.

On the strength of that awesome triumph, it's 10th of the campaign, Watterson copped the AP poll.

Coach Bob Seaman, who has successfully guided Massillon on a strong comeback trail after the Tigers suffered through a 4-5 season, will have to set up a sticky defense to guard against the well - balanced Arlington attack.

Halfback Gary Moore, a fleet-footed 160-pounder, has racked up 504 yards in only 56 efforts. And quarterback Scott Stanley has completed 46 of 78 passes for 592 yards.

Tailback Jim Smith, a rugged 6-4, 187-pounder, leads Massillon's attack with 538 yards.

Scholastic Sidelights:

There are other top attractions involving top ten teams. While Steubenville practically gets a breather in Columbus DeSale, No. 4 Cincinnati Roger Bacon must ward off the challenge of Cincinnati Moeller, beaten last Friday for the first time. Moeller lost 18 - 14 to Cincinnati Elder, another Queen City power.

No. 6 Dover entertains unbeaten Jackson and No. 9 Toledo St. Francis goes against once-beaten Toledo Start.

It's been a great season for Columbus area teams. Columbus East, Eastmoor, Marion Franklin, Arlington, Westerville and Dublin all sport 6-0 records.

Dublin risks its unblemished log against West Jefferson, also 6-0, Friday.

In a battle of unbeatens, Dayton Belmont and Dayton Roosevelt struggled to a 12-12 tie last week in the mud and rain.

No. 10 Circleville, 6-0, won its 13th consecutive game last Friday the 13th defeating Washington Court House for the 13th year in a row. The Tigers have won five Central Ohio League titles in the past seven years and are led by Steve Dade, a speedy halfback who has gained 692 yards.

Watkins Memorial's Jack Leveck, brother of Ohio University halfback Dave Leveck, has scored 102 points in six games, five of them victories.

Class A Licking Heights, 6-0, has allowed only six points all season. Unbeaten Newark Catholic set a school scoring record in a 70-0 romp over East Knox.

Fairfield Union, unbeaten in five outings, registered its fourth shutout with a 24 - 0 whitewash of Amanda - Clearcreek. Fairfield also has victimized 10th ranked Berne Union.

Talking about No. 13, that's the number that adorns the jersey of halfback - quarterback Keith Burke of Steubenville. Burke always will be remembered for catching a deflected pass in the end zone that whipped Canton McKinley last Friday in the final second.

Rose Nuzzo Joins Yogis, Favors Consensus Picks

The Review Grid Yogis have added something new — the woman's touch — but whether this will be helpful remains to be seen.

Rose Nuzzo, coming off the injured list, makes her Yogi debut this week, and she goes with the consensus in every case. Her picks are identical to leader Bob Shaffer, so she shouldn't do too badly. In one game, the consensus is split 3-3, with Tom Futhey, Bob Duffy and Turk Pierce taking Oak Glen and the others picking Salem.

The unanimous choices are East Liverpool over Martins Ferry, Crestview over United and the Cowboys over the Steelers. Bob Poole, who fell into the cellar last week, tries to recoup by taking Beaver Local over Lisbon, the Bears over the Browns and West Virginia over Penn State.

Duffy couldn't pick against his Ohio U. team, though everyone else took Miami. Tom Futhey could pick against his Kent State team, however, as he and Pierce went with Bowling Green.

Futhey and Poole selected Midland, while the others went with Rochester.

Lady Potters Plan Annual Grid Banquet

The annual football banquet, to be held sometime in November, was discussed by the Lady Potter Boosters at their meeting Tuesday night.

It was reported that the rummage sale held last weekend made about $100. All those who donated rummage for the sale were thanked. The club is still selling aprons and fruit cakes to raise money for the banquet.

The next meeting will be Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. at the YMCA. A Halloween party will follow the meeting.

Purple Raiders Loss String 22

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

If the East Liverpool Potters need an easy opponent to bounce back against following the loss to Warren Western Reserve, Martins Ferry seems to be just what the doctor ordered.

The once powerful Purple Raiders from down the river are riding a 22-game losing streak, and have scored only four times in six outings this season. Carl Mamone's club has lost to Weirton 14-6, Marietta 29-6, Bridgeport 8-0, Wheeling 17-8, Moundsville 14-6 and Follansbee 26-0.

Nevertheless, Potter coach Bob McNea says this year's Ferry team is stronger than the one which was buried 54-0 by East Liverpool last year. "They give up yardage grudgingly and they hustle", McNea said. He indicated that the Potters would stick mainly to a rushing offense, especially if the field is wet, which it always seems to be at Martins Ferry.

The top two backs for Ferry, in McNea's estimation, are quarterback Sam Twardoski, a sophomore who has completed 24 of 48 passes with only two interceptions for 224 yards and halfback Rich Weiskircher, a junior who has rushed for 229 yards in 67 carries and who has gathered in 150 yards worth of passes. The others in the backfield are juniors, halfback Larry Duncan, with 164 yards rushing, and fullback Dave Bruney, with 190 yards rushing.

The Potters are in better shape physically than last week. Bill Jones is still hampered by the bruise on his back, Rick Rowley has a shoulder separation, Bill Hopper has a bruised shoulder, and Bruce Christian and Earl Diddle have knee hurts, but all are expected to play. McNea says he doesn't think the team will have a psychological letdown because of the loss to Warren.

Game time in Martins Ferry is 8 p.m. The field is between the river and Route 7, and there are signs to the field on Route 7, though the area is congested by construction. Martins Ferry prohibits radio broadcasts of the game, but the halftime score and the final score will be available at the Review by calling 385-4545 Friday night.

Chargers' Duncan Honored

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Would you believe Jimmy Brown, standing 5-foot-10, weighing 175 pounds and playing in a defensive backfield?

Well, you'd better believe Speedy Duncan, San Diego's diminutive cornerback, who is as important to the Chargers as Brown was to Cleveland.

Duncan scored two touchdowns against Kansas City last Sunday, set an American Football League record on one of them and was named AFL Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today for his part in San Diego's 45-31 victory.

A newsman asked Coach Sid Gillman how he gets the Chargers up for a showdown game such as last week's collision with Kansas City. Gillman's reply was succinct.

"Speedy Duncan makes like the poor man's Jim Brown," he said, "and we're ready to go."

Lambert Inauguration Set Friday

Ex-Educator In Hancock To Be Installed By NEA

Sam M. Lambert, 54, a former teacher in the Hancock County school system, will be inaugurated as the National Education Association's sixth executive secretary during ceremonies in Washington Friday.

Lambert, known as "a champion of the classroom teacher" throughout his 17 years of service to the NEA, will be installed before more than 1,000 educators, legislative leaders and others. Among those attending will be the present head of the Teachers Association, William N. Allison of Chester. He is a teacher at Pughtown school.

Lambert succeeds William G. Carr, who retired after 15 years in the association's top seat.

Lambert was born in Canebrake, W. Va., and spent most of his early life in Bluefield. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees at West Virginia University, helping to work his way through college by carrying newspapers. He earned his doctor's degree at George Washington University.

Lambert was named to the post in March and actually assumed office Aug. 1.

One of his first teaching positions brought him to Hancock County and Weir High School. His tenure was short, however, and he moved on after teaching one school year—1935-36. Lambert taught five classes of social studies and one of math at Weirton.

Most of his family and relatives still reside in the Bluefield and Charleston area.

Beautification Being Pushed By Wellsville Post

In accordance with a beautification program of the American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville, a plaque and stone inserts will be installed soon, Jerome Gitschier, commander, said during a meeting Monday night in the post home.

The material and labor was estimated at $1,200 by the donor, Clarence Smith of Huntington, W. Va., a post member and former Wellsville resident. William Boyce performed the greater portion of the work, with the commander and Dorman Householder assisting him.

Don Lowe, superintendent of Wellsville Schools, asked support of the 5-mill school levy which will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

A membership of 200, 69 less the quota for 1968, has been reached with the acceptance of Quenton Henderson and David Byers as new members.

Plans were advanced for the Veterans Day banquet for Nov. 11 when Phillip R. McBride, state department commander, will be guest speaker.

A Halloween dance with prizes for costumes will be held Oct. 28, Kenneth Hoover, second vice commander, said. A report of the past commanders' and presidents' ball held last Saturday was given. A birthday and anniversary dance for October will be held, with Russ Ludwig and the Blue Shades performing.

Francis House will give the Americanism and government test sometime during the week of Dec. 4 at Wellsville High School. Participating students will be from grades 10 through 12. This is the second year House has monitored the testing.

A donation was made to the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce for its Christmas lighting project.

The next meeting will be Monday at 8 p. m. in the post home.

Former Ohio U. Grid Star, War Writer, Claimed

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—Murray Lewis, a former college football star, war correspondent and Ohio newspaperman, died Wednesday at his home following a lengthy illness. He was 55.

Lewis, once a newsman at the Athens Messenger and the Columbus Dispatch in Ohio, was a vice president of Cye Byoir and Associates, a New York public relations firm, at the time of his death.

A New York City native who became a football star when he attended Ohio University, Lewis was a staff correspondent with the Marine Corps and participated is several Pacific theater campaigns.

During his career he also served as a publicist for Samuel Goldwyn Productions, for movie maker David O. Selznick and for the Waldorf-Astoria, St. Regis and Pierre hotels in New York City.

Ohio's Ferguson Act Hasn't Done The Job

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Ferguson Act was intended to outlaw strikes by public employes. It hasn't done the job thus far.

Public employes, their employers and state officials agree on at least one reason why—they say the dusty law is too strong for its own good.

Within the past year, more than 3,000 Ohio state employes have been dismissed under the law. By terms of the act, they should have been reinstated only at the cost of no raises and loss of tenure for a year.

All have been re - employed without penalty, and usually with promises of more pay.

"It's a paper tiger," says Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who as a state representative voted against the law some 20 years ago becuase he felt the pay and tenure penalties were too strong.

"That was the problem we had. . . enforcing the full penalties against everyone," says Toledo City Manager Frank Backstrom, whose city was clogged in snow and refuse when some 700 city workers struck for higher pay last December.

There were no penalties for the Toledo workers, for the 1,000 Ohio State University workers who struck this month or for the 1,300 who walked out at Ohio University earlier this year.

"If you could replace them, then this would be a practical matter," says an Ohio University official who requests anonymity.

The university at Athens, fighting a tight labor market, simply allowed strikers to appeal their dismissal under the act, then rehired them and never held appeal hearings. A promise of no retaliation was quietly signed.

In Youngstown this fall, the act itself was not even invoked after nearly all the city's police and firemen walked away in a successful strike for more pay.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees, which called the Toledo and university strikes, is optimistic about its accomplishments in face of the act.

Bill McCue, international federation representative, chuckles when reminded of the ill-fated attempts to invoke the law. 'The 13th amendment freed the slaves, you know," he says.

"We hope the next legislature will see the fallacies in the thing and get it off the books here," he says.

Saxbe says the law has worked in the past, but generally when taxpayers' suits forced a local government to carry the act through to the end.

His office can't bring such suits, Saxbe says, and he thinks the state did what it could to help the universities. "We certainly gave them all the legal advice we could."

"I think it helped bring things to a head," says Toledo Manager Backstrom. "If there had been some discretion as to the penalties involved, it would have been more helpful."

"It creates problems in settling things once it's started," says McCue. "They know that if the penalties, the full penalties, are invoked, they'll have more trouble settling."

Beautification Being Pushed By Wellsville Post

In accordance with a beautification program of the American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville, a plaque and stone inserts will be installed soon, Jerome Gitschier, commander, said during a meeting Monday night in the post home.

The material and labor was estimated at $1,200 by the donor, Clarence Smith of Huntington, W. Va., a post member and former Wellsville resident. William Boyce performed the greater portion of the work, with the commander and Dorman Householder assisting him.

Don Lowe, superintendent of Wellsville Schools, asked support of the 5-mill school levy which will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

A membership of 200, 69 less the quota for 1968, has been reached with the acceptance of Quenton Henderson and David Byers as new members.

Plans were advanced for the Veterans Day banquet for Nov. 11 when Phillip R. McBride, state department commander, will be guest speaker.

A Halloween dance with prizes for costumes will be held Oct. 28, Kenneth Hoover, second vice commander, said. A report of the past commanders' and presidents' ball held last Saturday was given. A birthday and anniversary dance for October will be held, with Russ Ludwig and the Blue Shades performing.

Francis House will give the Americanism and government test sometime during the week of Dec. 4 at Wellsville High School. Participating students will be from grades 10 through 12. This is the second year House has monitored the testing.

A donation was made to the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce for its Christmas lighting project.

The next meeting will be Monday at 8 p. m. in the post home.

Former Ohio U. Grid Star, War Writer, Claimed

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—Murray Lewis, a former college football star, war correspondent and Ohio newspaperman, died Wednesday at his home following a lengthy illness. He was 55.

Lewis, once a newsman at the Athens Messesger and the Columbus Dispatch in Ohio, was a vice president of Cye Byoir and Associates, a New York public relations firm, at the time of his death.

A New York City native who became a football star when he attended Ohio University, Lewis was a staff correspondent with the Marine Corps and participated is several Pacific theater campaigns.

During his career he also served as a publicist for Samuel Goldwyn Productions, for movie maker David O. Selznick and for the Waldorf-Astoria, St. Regis and Pierre hotels in New York City.

Ohio's Ferguson Act Hasn't Done The Job

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Ferguson Act was intended to outlaw strikes by public employes. It hasn't done the job thus far.

Public employes, their employers and state officials agree on at least one reason why—they say the dusty law is too strong for its own good.

Within the past year, more than 3,000 Ohio state employes have been dismissed under the law. By terms of the act, they should have been reinstated only at the cost of no raises and loss of tenure for a year.

All have been re - employed without penalty, and usually with promises of more pay.

"It's a paper tiger," says Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who as a state representative voted against the law some 20 years ago becuase he felt the pay and tenure penalties were too strong.

"That was the problem we had. . . enforcing the full penalties against everyone," says Toledo City Manager Frank Backstrom, whose city was clogged in snow and refuse when some 700 city workers struck for higher pay last December.

There were no penalties for the Toledo workers, for the 1,000 Ohio State University workers who struck this month or for the 1,300 who walked out at Ohio University earlier this year.

"If you could replace them, then this would be a practical matter," says an Ohio University official who requests anonymity.

The university at Athens, fighting a tight labor market, simply allowed strikers to appeal their dismissal under the act, then rehired them and never held appeal hearings. A promise of no retaliation was quietly signed.

In Youngstown this fall, the act itself was not even invoked after nearly all the city's police and firemen walked away in a successful strike for more pay.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees, which called the Toledo and university strikes, is optimistic about its accomplishments in face of the act.

Bill McCue, international federation representative, chuckles when reminded of the ill-fated attempts to invoke the law. 'The 13th amendment freed the slaves, you know," he says.

"We hope the next legislature will see the fallacies in the thing and get it off the books here," he says.

Saxbe says the law has worked in the past, but generally when taxpayers' suits forced a local government to carry the act through to the end.

His office can't bring such suits, Saxbe says, and he thinks the state did what it could to help the universities. "We certainly gave them all the legal advice we could."

"I think it helped bring things to a head," says Toledo Manager Backstrom. "If there had been some discretion as to the penalties involved, it would have been more helpful."

"It creates problems in settling things once it's started," says McCue. "They know that if the penalties, the full penalties, are invoked, they'll have more trouble settling."

Band And Orchestra Group Hears Reports On Projects

Progress reports on fund-raising projects were heard when the East Liverpool High School Band and Orchestra Mothers met Tuesday night in the band room at Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Norris Koerber presided.

Mrs. Paul Cunningham displayed Christmas candles which the organization is selling.

Mrs. Willis Standley reported on the drive to collect innerseals from jars of coffee. The collection will end Oct. 31. Seals should be given to any band mother or band student.

Mrs. Gail Merriman reported that the recent bake sale was a success and thanked all who donated or assisted. The group also is selling Christmas napkins, with Mrs. William Hales chairman.

A social hour followed the meeting, with the buffet table covered with white linen. Featured was a large gold cornucopia overflowing with fruits and vegetables.

A Christmas bazaar will feature the Nov. 21 meeting.

Junior Editors Quiz on ORANGES

QUESTION: How can seedless oranges be grown without seeds?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Some oranges have many seeds, others contain only a few. But oranges of the seedless varieties, such as the navel oranges of California or the Satsuma oranges grown near the Gulf of Mexico, come from trees which do not produce seeds. Instead of seeds, buds from these trees are used for reproduction. These are grafted onto the rootstock of other young orange trees. The rootstocks of bitter type orange trees are usually used; because they are resistant to disease. A budded twig is cut from a seedless orange tree and a slice of wood around the bud is cut from this (1). Turned upright, this slice is inserted into a slit in the rootstock of the bitter orange seedling (2). A branch grows out; unnecessary parts of the rootstock are rimmed off (3) The branch becomes a new tree, and it will bear fruit like that of the tree from which the bud came. In this way, orange growers can continue the produce seedless oranges.
